DESTROY ALL RIVALS IS OIL TRUST ORDER

Former Sedalia Manager Describes Underselling and Other Methods Used.

FALSE GAUGE SUGGESTED

Says His Superior Advised This Method to Ruin Competitors.

SPARE WATERS-PIERCE

Says He Was Called Down for Once Entering Its Territory.

William A. Morgan, former manager for the Standard Oil Co. at Sedalia, Mo., testifying before Special Supreme Court Commissioner Anthony at the Southern Hotel Thursday in the proceedings brought by Attorney General Hadley to break up the Standard Oil monopoly in Missouri, said that the Standard Oil Co. issued orders to its agents to undersell and destroy competitors at all hazards, asserting that on one occasion he was supplied with false guages to be used in the attempt to "drive the enemy from the field."

Morgan's statements created a sensation and the Standard Oil attorneys offered frequent and vigorous objection to this testimony.

The Attorney-General is asking the revocation of the charters of the Standard, Republic, International and Waters-Pierce companies on the ground that by combining to control the price of oil they have violated the anti-trust laws of the State.

Morgan's reports were sent to G. W. Mayer, who had charge of the Standard Oil interests in Missouri.

"When I took charge of the Sedalia office," said the witness, "the Standard Oil Co. was in fierce competition with Schofield, Scherman & Teagle. The latter company controlled 50 or 60 per cent of the business in that territory.

"Inside of a short period I had taken the business away from the Schofield company, and the Standard, before I severed my connection with it in 1901, controlled 90 per cent of the trade in the Sedalia territory."

Destroy Competitors.

"I was told to go into the field of the enemy and destroy our competitors."

"What were your specific instructions?

"I was ordered to sell all goods possible—to cut prices wherever necessary and not allow our competitors to sell a barrel of oil if it was possible to prevent them doing so."

"The Waters-Pierce," said he, "sold within 18 miles of Sedalia, and I was not allowed to go into their territory."

"Did you ever go beyond your jurisdiction?"

"Yes; once I sold oil in Hickory County and was called down for it."

"Mr. Mayer told me that Hickory County was in the territory belonging to the Waters-Pierce company and that if I sold oil there I would receive no credit from the company.

"Could you have sold oil in Hickory County at a rate below that charged by the Waters-Pierce Oil Co.?"

"I could have done so."

"At how much lower?"

"About 1 cent a gallon. That was because of cheaper freight rates, better facilities and so on."

Mr. Morgan was then asked to tell if he knew of other methods resorted to by the Standard besides cutting prices, to get business or kill off competition.

False Gauge in Extreme Cases.

He answered that the company furnished him with barrel gauges by which he would be able to show a customer that a competitor sold "short" barrels.

"Did you use those gauges?"

"I did not."

"Why?"

"Well, I didn't think it was proper to use them."

"What were your instructions?"

"I was told by Mr. Mayer to use the gauges only in extreme cases—that is, where a competitor could not be driven out by other methods or where other arguments failed to induce the merchant to buy from us."

"To what extent would these gauges indicate a barrel of oil was short when applied to a barrel sold by a competitor?"

"From four to five gallons."

"Why did you refuse to carry out instructions sent to you in regard to these gauges?"

"I had personal reasons."

"What were they?"

"Well, because I thought these gauges were being used with fradulent intent. In the first place good salesmen could show by sharp manipulation that barrels were short."

Attorneys Hagerman and Johnson objected repeatedly to Mr. Hadley's questions. They declared the witness was not competent to testify as to the gauges since he admitted that he never used or tested them. They insisted the witness should be confined to testifying merely as to what his superior, Mr. Mayer, had told him, and not as to the general instructions that he might have received.

Trust Attorneys Protest.

They asked that all of his testimony in relation to the gauges be stricken out. Commissioner Anthony refused to do this.

He said the witness' testimony was material only where he could state a fact of his own knowledge.

Mr. Hagerman referred sarcastically to the "witness' eager desire" to tell truths out of school.

BURTON ASKS DISCHARGE ON TECHNICALITY

Pleads Want of Jurisdiction, Alleging Contract Was Made in Washington.

NEW WITNESS TESTIFIES

Brooks Relates Damaging Remark of Kastor, Made in Burton's Hearing.

WILL FINISH SATURDAY

Attorney Lehmann Tries to Prove Brooks Is Favored by Government.

At the resumption of the trial of United States Senator Burton Thursday afternoon, Attorney Lehmann filed a motion to dismiss the charges on the ground that the evidence introduced by the Government showed that any agreement between Senator Burton and the Rialto Grain and Securities Co., was made in Washington outside the jurisdiction of the Federal Court in St. Louis.

Attorney Lehmann argued that the evidence showed that Burton and Attorney Harlan for the Rialto Co., talked over the matter of Burton's employment as counsel on the train between Chicago and St. Louis, and that Harlan returned to St. Louis, while Senator Burton went to Washington. Burton was then notified at Washington, he said, that his terms were accepted.

The matter was at once taken under consideration.

The Government announced the close of its case and should Judge Van De Vanter decide the motion favorable to Burton it will dispose of the necessity of further defense.

New Witness Produced.

The Government produced a new witness against United States Senator Burton at the opening of the fourth day of trial Thursday in the person of Charles H. Brooks, manager and originator of the Brooks Brokerage and Commission Co., a get-rich-quick concern, which was bought out by the Rialto company, in whose affairs Senator Burton is involved.

Brooks proved an important witness. He himself has been prosecuted for using the mails to defraud in a similar venture and his appeal is still pending.

"I met Burton," Brooks said, "with R. H. Kastor. Kastor said that the Government was investigating all speculative houses in St. Louis and sooner or later my concern, which was the National Securites Co., would be investigated.

"'Senator Burton can be of use to you,' said Kastor.

What Kastor Told Him.

"I told him I did not see what use Burton could be, and Kastor, pointing toward Burton, said: 'Here is the man who defeated you in your fight against Dennis, president of the Rialto company, by preventing the issuance of a fraud order against that company.'

"'If he had influence enough for that he might be of use to me,' I replied."

On cross examination Attorney Lehman made a vigorous attempt to show that the Government had agreed to show favor to Brooks in prosecutions against him, but was unable to obtain such a statement from Brooks. The witness admitted he had been convicted of a charge of conducting a scheme to defraud. He now has an appeal pending. He said he had been promised no favor and expected none.

The Government lays great store by Brooks' testimony, which is entirely new, though he was not permitted to tell the complete conversation, the defense objecting on the ground that it referred to the National Securities Co. instead of the Rialto company.

Defense to Open Today.

Attorneys for the Government indicated Thursday morning that its evidence in the case against Burton will be completed today. The defense will immediately begin the introduction of testimony and is expected to finish by Tuesday evening. The case will probably go to the jury Saturday and a verdict is expected Saturday.

Hector C. McRea, formerly a clerk for the Rialto Co., was a witness this morning. McRea said he saw Burton in Mahaney's room at the Rialto Company's office the day Burton severed connection with the company. On that occasion, McRea testified, Burton said that before leaving Washington he had called at the Postoffice Department, and that there were no complaints pending against the Rialto Company, Burton left his address, McRea said, with the statement that he would always be at hand if his services were required.

McRea said that Burton stated in regard to his letters that the National Securities Co. had used a letter to which his name was attached and that it had caused him considerable trouble.

On cross-examination Attorney Lehmann brought out that McRea had not given the testimony regarding the National Securities Co. at the former trial of Senator Burton, and that McRea had been indicted for his connection with the Rialto company. The defense also brought to the attention of the jury that the Government had never brought McRea to trial on this indictment.

PARISI WEDS MARTHA OF HIS WIFE'S DIARY

Violinist, 19 Hours After Divorce, Marries the "Other Woman."

PLANNED BY TELEPHONE

Called Up Bride-to-Be as Soon as He Heard of Decree.

WEDDING TOUR DEFERRED

After Ceremony by Justice Cronin, He Hastens to Pupil.

Signor Guido Parisi, well known violinist, and Miss Martha Belle Scogin, the "Martha" of Mrs. Marie Parisi's famous diary, were married by Justice Cronin in his Clark avenue office at 10:30 a. m. Thursday, just 19 hours after Judge Sale had granted to the musician's first wife the divorce decree which freed the husband.

Meeting at Signor Parisi's studio, 4355 Maryland avenue, they rode to City Hall on a trolley car and walked thence to the Justice's office, hastening to return that the bridegroom might keep an engagement with a pupil for a lesson before lunch.

The time for the ceremony was agreed on in a conversation between Signor Parisi and Miss Scogin by telephone, immediately after the violinist learned late Wednesday afternoon that his wife had obtained her divorce decree.

Signor Parisi did not appear in court at the divorce hearing, and his wife was the only witness. She told of her voyage to Europe last summer, in which Miss Scogin, under the name of Mrs. Mary Jones, was a passenger on the same steamer with her and her husband, of the meetings between the two in Paris and Naples, and of his final avowal that he could not be happy without the young woman, with whom he had become acquainted as her instructor.

She was not required to produce her diary, made famous through the publication in the Post-Dispatch of extracts referring to the "other woman," or the passenger list of the ocean liner, La Bretagne, which she had procured as evidence.

Was a Radiant Bride.

Miss Scogin arrived at Parisi's apartments at 9 a. m., unattended. Over a shirtwaist suit she wore a long black silk coat, tightened by a belt. Her hat was a large black creation. These set off admirably her tall, lithe figure, and displayed her brilliant color and dark brown eyes.

As Signor Parisi had not yet completed his preparations, Miss Scogin waited for him in the front parlor of his apartments and spoke of the approaching ceremony to a Post-Dispatch reporter.

"We have had to wait very long for this happiness," she said, "but it has come at last, and everything ends just as it ought to—almost like a novel. Many horrid things have been said about us, but we don't care, now that every bar that stood between us has been removed.

"I shall give up all the ambition that I once had to be a great artist myself. It is sufficient that I shall now be able to link my life with that of a great violinist—his success will be enough for both. I want to make a home for him that will be as happy as a home should be in which there is nothing but love."

Trolley Car Their Coach.

Signor Parisi came downstairs shortly before 9:30. He wore a black suit of foreign cut, and with a bright red tie and a short walking stick he presented a smart appearance. His hat was a soft, brownish gray felt, with crushed top.

They left the house promptly at 9:30 o'clock, and boarded a trolley car for City Hall.

On the steps of the City Hall they were met by Robert Boehmen, a member of the Olympic Theater orchestra, who had consented to act as a witness. He led the way into the Marriage License office.

The license was issued by Chief Clerk Paul Young. Parisi signed his name first and was followed immediately by Miss Scogin. Clerk Young had, or professed to have, great difficulty in pronouncing Parisi's first name—Guido. Mr. Parisi gave him a few lessons, and the official then went through the formula of asking the applicants whether they were related to each other, and whether they were "single and unmarried."

As the party left the license office and passed through the corridor leading to the Twelfth street entrance, officials and clerks turned to stare curiously at the striking pair.

Signor Parisi had not decided where the ceremony was to be performed. He asked Mr. Boehmen's advice.

"Do you want to get through with it in a hurry?" asked his mentor.

"Yes, decidedly. I have a music lesson to give at 11 o'clock," answered the

HANLON HINTS HE'S WILLING TO QUIT

"It Wouldn't Take Much to Make Me Resign," Says Commissioner.

OPEN BOARD MEETING

President Stewart Expected to Introduce Motion for Change Friday.

A close friend of Gov. Folk said Thursday that the Governor's next move in reorganizing the St. Louis Police Department would be to ask for the resignation of Commissioner Richard Hanlon.

To a Post-Dispatch reporter Mr. Hanlon said: "I have not received any word from Gov. Folk as to whether he wishes me to withdraw from the board.

"It has been intimated to me that he does, but I cannot say what I would do if the proposition were put to me direct. That might depend on the humor I was in at the time. If it is charged that I have not given sufficient time to police matters I will be in a position to show that the present board has devoted much more of its time to its official duties than the previous board.

"I have never let police matters interfere with my millinery business, and I do not think I was expected to. I will not lose much sleep over my threatened dismissal from the board, and it wouldn't take much to make me resign, anyway."

Local politicians recall that in 1898 Gov. Lon V. Stephens demanded the resignation of Police Commissioner W. C. Scarritt of Kansas City by telegraph. The commissioner did not contest the Governor's right, though he and his friends asserted that he could have served to the end of his term despite the Governor's action. The fight between Stephens and Scarritt was personal.

Blong ot Decided.

President Stewart of the Board of Police Commissioners says that he believes that meetings of the board should be public, his announcement following Gov. Folk's expression of the same opinion in an interview accompanying the announcement that Andrew Blong would be dismissed from the board.

President Stewart said to a Post-Dispatch reporter Wednesday afternoon:

"Wherever the ends of justice may not be hampered it is my judgment the public should be given all the facts, and reporters allowed to chronicle the proceedings before the board.

Publicity Resolution.

"There are arguments to be weighed on both sides of the matter. But the more I thought I have contributed to the subject, the greater is my prediliction in favor of publicity. I shall take up this matter further without delay.

It is understood that at the meeting of the Board of Police Commissioners Friday afternoon Mr. Stewart will introduce a resolution amending that clause in the manual restricting the hearings before the Police Board to the defendant, his accusers and the members of the board.

At his paint shop at 2222 Franklin avenue Thursday morning Mr. Blong said:

"I am still unable to tell what I will do. I haven't been able to communicate with my attorney, Morton Jourdan. The first I knew of this was last Monday when I received a telephone message from Mr. Stewart asking me to call on him at his office at the St. Louis Union Trust Co. He asked me if I would resign and he said there was no particular reason, but that if I did not withdraw the Governor would remove. He said that he himself had nothing to do with the matter and that he was merely carrying out the instructions of Gov. Folk.

"I told him if I stepped out at this time it would look like I was resigning under fire.

"I understand the law says that the Governor may remove a board member on charges, but so far as I know no charges have been filed against me.

"I do not know that my friendship for Chief Kiely has anything to do with my removal. I have voted for Kiely twice, but he has other friends on the board. As to Mulvihill's recent conferences with Chief of Detectives Desmond, I do not think that could hand Kiely's job to Desmond. He doesn't want it.

THUNDERSTORMS COME TONIGHT

Weather Man Sees Rain Ahead With Warmer Temperature.

A great deal of weather, none of it very pretty, is forecasted for the next day or two by the Weather Bureau. A season of goloshes seems about to set in. Says the forecast:

"Increasing cloudiness with showers and possibly thunderstorms tonight and Friday. Warmer tonight; cooler Friday afternoon and night. Brisk and high southerly winds, shifting to the northwest Friday afternoon."

There's a disturbance of marked intensity between here and the Rocky Mountain divide, says the bureau, and it is causing rain in many States, as well as snow in Colorado and New Mexico.

MRS. CALKIN WANTS GIRL

Humane Society Officer Sues Child's Mother.

The St. Louis Humane Society, through its secretary, Mrs. Mary Calkins, filed a petition of habeas corpus Thursday in the St. Louis County Circuit Court at Clayton, asking that Mrs. Sallie Pryor be made to come into court and surrender to the St. Louis Humane Society her 5-year-old daughter, Rosebud Pryor. An order to this effect, made returnable forthwith, was issued.

The St. Louis Humane Society was appointed guardian of the girl by Judge Wurdeman of the St. Louis County Probate Court Nov. 14, but Mrs. Calkins says that the society has been unable to get possession of its ward since that time. The guardianship appointment was made on the charge that Mrs. Pryor was not a proper guardian for the girl.

Mrs. Pryor is the mother of the mulatto boy, Henry Baxter, aged 14, who was surrendered to the guardianship of Mrs. Susan J. Marks of Carsonville, Mo., last August. He had been working for Mrs. Marks, a director in the St. Louis Humane Society, for three years, but his mother finally claimed him. When asked by the court to choose between Mrs. Marks and his mother as to whom should be his guardian, he chose Mrs. Marks.

Quarrel Over Division of Fraud Money Leads to Desperate Fight.

ONE KILLED; TWO INJURED

New York East Side Gangs Settle Differences in Pistol Battle.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Election frauds are believed by the police to have caused the murder last night of W. F. Harrington in the Little Naples Dance Hall, and also the probable fatal injuries of Abraham Hakman, who was found with a fractured skull some distance away from the Little Naples.

The dance hall is at 57 Great Jones street and is conducted by Paul Kelly, leader of an East Side gang.

From papers found on the dead man and from information obtained from nine prisoners, two of them women, who were arrested after the murder, the police learned that the quarrel started over election matters.

One of the prisoners had a marked ballot of the last election in his pocket. Harrington was killed in the barroom of the Little Naples during a revolver battle, which left the floors spotted with blood and riddled the pictures on the wall.

Bartender Bernard Escotte, one of those under arrest, says the fight started when four members of the Liberty Association, which is hostile to the Kelly gang, entered the room after midnight.

One of these men, Escotte says, immediately ordered drinks for the whole crowd. When everyone was drinking he insolently pounded with his fist on the bar and exclaimed:

"My best friend was shot here Tuesday morning. Are there any one of you who know how to shoot? If you do, I'd like to have you begin."

The challenge was accepted, and in the battle which followed the police say that 50 shots were fired. When the office moved Harrington was dead on the floor and all the others, including the wounded in the dance hall, had fled after turning out the lights. The dead man's dog was found crouched over his master's body and whining.

The police say that the friends of the Liberty gang whose name was made the pretext of the fight, is John Ratta, who was wounded at the Little Naples last Tuesday morning. The police also believe that a quarrel over the division of election money was the original cause of the fight.

CLEW TO TEXAS ROBBERY.

Horse Stolen by Escaping Safe-Blowers Found.

Special to the

CISCO, Tex., Nov. 23.—An exhausted horse found here last night may furnish a clew to three men who Tuesday night robbed the vault of the County Treasurer at Eastland.

The horse has been identified as belonging to Judge J. R. Stubblefield of Eastland, and was stolen the night of the burglary. Its condition shows it carried a heavy load, probably two men, for miles at its utmost speed. It is thought the burglars caught a freight train here.

The robbery was easily accomplished.

The burglars went into the County Treasurer's office in the Court House and drilled off the lock of the outer door to the steel vault. The look of the inside door had been broken and useless for some time and it was easy to swing this door back and enter the vault and take the $300 cash that was there.

BANDITS RAID TOWN BLOW THREE SAFES BURN POSTOFFICE

Residents of Clifton City, Mo., 200 Miles From St. Louis, Aroused by Explosion in Early Morning to Fight Flames Which Destroy Two Buildings.

POSTMASTER'S HOME AND HIS OFFICE ARE RUINED

Robbers Ransack Three Stores Before Attacking the Postal Safe and Escape In Wagon With Their Plunder During Excitement of the Fire They Started.

Clifton City, Mo., 13 miles northeast of Sedalia and 200 miles from St. Louis, on the Missouri, Kansas & Texas Railroad, was raided by bandits early Thursday morning. The Postoffice was robbed and the safe blown, four stores were pillaged, and the Postoffice building and a residence were burned to the ground. The bandits got away in a wagon.

Postmaster W. C. Wakefield notified Chief Postoffice Inspector Fulton at St. Louis and gave a Post-Dispatch reporter a graphic account of the raid over the long-distance telehpone. He said:

"Clifton City is a quiet little place where robberies are almost unheard of, and there is not even a night watchman to guard the residence and business places. Everybody was asleep at 3:40 this morning when there was a muffled explosion, which awakened many.

Flames Follow Explosion.

"It was impossible to tell from what direction the sound came and those who had been awakened were about to go to bed again after looking out of their windows and seeing nothing, when the postoffice building burst into flames.

"The building is a one-story frame owned by me and used for postoffice and general store purposes. Although it is within fifty feet of my residence, neither myself nor any of the members of my family had been awakened by the explosion, although persons living in more remote parts of the town were awakened. Cries of 'fire' soon aroused the town.

"Those who reached the postoffice building first found that the back door had been broken in. The interior of the store and postoffice was ablaze. By the light of the flames it could be seen that the safe had been blown. The door had been blown off and the interior of the building wrecked.

"It was impossible to go into the front part of the building occupied by the store and postoffice, and nothing was saved there. The warerooom at the back of the store could be entered and some goods were saved from there.

Postmaster's Home Robbed.

"In spite of all that could be done the flames spread to my two-story residence, adjoining, and it was completely destroyed, but most of the furniture was carried out.

"When daylight came it was found that three other stores had been entered and robbed. These were the general store of McCarty & Bridges and the general store and the drug store of J. E. Pettes. Front and rear doors had been forced at each place. They were probably entered before the postoffice was robbed.

"In the postoffice safe were $150 in stamps and some money. I do not know what the looters took from the stock of the store. The proprietors of the other stores have not ascertained yet how much was taken from their stock.

"My residence was worth $1500. It was insured approximately to its value. My insured approximately to its value. My general merchandise was worth upwards of $3000 and was only insured for between $600 and $800. There was not much insurance on the store and postoffice building.

"While the fire was in progress everybody who could do so was fighting the flames, and although it was known that the safe had been blown there was no time for hunting the robbers. When the fire was out no trace could be found of them.

"It is not known, of course, whether the fire was started accidentally or by design. The robbers may have set fire to the building to throw the town into excitement and enable them to escape during it, but it is more probable from the rapidity with which the flames spread, right after the explosion was heard, that the interior was wrecked and set on fire by the same explosion. The robberies and fire caused great excitement in the town."

Mr. Wakefield has been in business in Clifton City fifteen years, has been postmaster for a good while, and is well known in that part of the State.

Dynamite to Find Body.

Eighteen charges of dynamite, a total of 50 pounds, were exploded Wednesday in the Mississippi River near the foot of Washington avenue in an effort to find the body of Giles A. Taintor, the young man drowned Saturday night while boarding the launch Saturn. The Wharf and Harbor Department supervised the work. Several fish, killed by the explosions, rose to the surface and floated down stream. G. E. Taintor, the father, has offered a reward of $25 for the recovery of the body.

STATE Y. M. C. A. MEETING CALLED

Gov. Folk to Deliver Address on "Missouri Men" Tonight.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SEDALIA, Mo., Nov. 23.—The twenty-ninth annual State Convention of the Y. M. C. A. was called to order at the First M. E. Church at 3 o'clock this afternoon, and will adjourn Sunday next.

Reports to the local committees lead to the belief that not less than 300 delegates will be in attendance by tomorrow with possibly one-half as many visitors. The delegates will be entertained in the Sedalia homes. The opening meeting was in session only one hour. Rev. C. M. Chilton of St. Joseph addressed the delegates on the subject, "Missouri Men; Their Relation to the Religious Life of the State."

Gov. Joseph W. Folk will arrive at 7 p. m., and tonight will speak on "Missouri Men; Their Relation to Social, Business and Political Life."

Friday evening the delegates will be tendered a reception at the public library, Mrs. W. D. Steele, former president of the State Teachers' Association being chairman of the committee.

Among the prominent business and professional men in the State who have announced their intention of being present, are George Warren Brown, St. Louis; T. S. McPheeters, chairman of the State Executive Committee, St. Louis; H. M. Beardsley, president of the City Council, Kansas City; Henry Krug Jr., St. Joseph; E. K. Carus, Kansas City; Thomas R. Gibson, Springfield; A. A. Mehl, Springfield; W. H. Black, president of the Missouri Valley College, Marshall; Dr. J. C. Jones, acting president State University; Dr. J. P. Pruit, William Jewell College, Liberty, Mo.; Prof. J. E. McAfee, Park College, Parkville, Mo.

WOMAN OUT FOR CARRINGTON'S JOB

Miss Elva Fowler Would Be a Candidate for School Commissioner.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Nov. 23.—A movement has been inaugurated here seeking to advance the candidacy of Miss Elva Fowler of this city for the Democratic nomination for State Superintendent of Public Schools to succeed W. T. Carrington. Miss Fowler is at present stenographer for the Board of Railroad and Warehouse Commissioners.

Miss Fowler is a level-headed, well-educated young woman, with considerable experience as a teacher, and her candidacy, if it materializes, will be a novelty in Missouri politics.

H. A. Guss, chief clerk under Mr. Carrington, is also a candidate for the nomination.

CALL QUEEN MADONNA.

Calabrians Bless Wife of the Italian King.

ROME, Nov. 23.—King Victor Emanuel and Queen Helena arrived unexpectedly today at the village of Briatico, Calabria, in the center of the desolation caused by the earthquake of Sept. 8.

Their majesties were received with enthusiasm by the villagers, and many touching incidents occurred, the women sending kisses to the queen and exclaiming, "Thou art our Madonna."

From Briatico the sovereigns drove to Monte Leone, where they were also unexpected by the authorities. The queen insisted on visiting the poorest quarters, consoling and helping everybody. She inspected the hospitals, caressed the children and encouraged everybody, saying: "I am your friend and have children myself. I know what you suffer."

Meanwhile the people, who were wildly enthusiastic, organized an imposing demonstration in honor of their majesties.

ROUSES JUDGE TO GET INJUNCTION

Dr. Mayfield's Janitor Keeps Pole-Hole Diggers at Bay With Hose.

PATHWAY FOR BURGLARS

Physician Says That Any Thief Could Enter His Sanitarium From the Pole.

Early Thursday morning after riding in a carriage all through the west end searching for a Circuit Judge, Attorney J. D. Dalton and a deputy sheriff, acting in behalf of Dr. W. H. Mayfield, proprietor of the Mayfield Sanitarium at Taylor avenue and Suburban tracks, aroused Judge Jesse McDonald from his slumbers and secured from him a temporary injunction to prevent the placing of a telephone pole on property adjoining the Sanitarium. The pole had been in place twelve hours when the injunction was obtained.

From Judge McDonald's home they drove to the residence of Cyrus P. Walbridge, president of the Bell Telephone Co., routed Mr. Walbridge from bed and served the injunction on him.

Workmen arrived at 3 p. m. Wednesday and started to dig a hole two feet from the southwest corner of the sanitarium.

Dr. Mayfield protested, but they did not heed him. He telephoned to his attorney, J. D. Dalton, who advised him to notify the police.

To policemen sent to tell them to stop the digging, workmen showed a city permit. Again the telephone got busy, Capt. O'Malley instructing his men to ignore the permit and reminding them that the Chief of Police might be liable on his bond if he should allow the telephone company to encroach on the property.

While these representations were being made Herman Moehler, janitor of the sanitarium quietly opened a coal chute in the basement of the building, shoved the nozzle of a garden hose through the opening and turned on the water. The men were just raising the pole. One after the other the stream hit them in the face. They stood their ground long enough to drop the pole in the hole and then retreated. They never came back.

Pole in Its Hole.

The pole now sits at a rakish angle in the position in which the men left it when they succumbed to the water cure.

Dr. Mayfield says that the pole as set would be within two feet of the bay windows of two of the most desirable rooms in the sanitarium, and that any thief who could climb the pole could easily make use of it to enter the building.

The injunction issued by Judge McDonald is returnable Dec. 4 in Circuit Court.

New Theater Lacks Exits.

Building Commissioner James Smith Thursday received from City Counselor Bates an opinion that the plans of the proposed Lyric Theater at 15 and 17 South Sixth street should not receive the sanction of the city until the promoters of the new playhouse agree to comply with the ordinance providing that theaters shall have exits on three sides. As at present projected the Lyric will have exits on only two sides.

bridegroom.

"I guess we can't find any better place than Justice Cronin's, then," said Boehmen, and to the famous office of "Jim" Cronin, opposite the Four Courts, they went.

Justice Cronin was not found immediately, and Signor Parisi and his bride-elect were taken to his parlor at the rear to await him. Miss Scogin looked about the room curiously.

"Seems a funny place to be married in, doesnt it?" she remarked.

"Just so we are married, that's the only thing that interests me," said Parisi.

Dazzled by Diamonds.

After a five-minute wait, Justice Cronin entered the room, resplendent in a new check suit, and with a huge diamond sparkling on his shirt front.

"Good gracious," said Signor Parisi, "I never thought I was going to be married by a man with such a gorgeous decoration," and all laughed.

Without further ceremony, Signor Parisi and Miss Scogin stood side by side before the Justice. He asked them whether they would take each other for husband and wife and whether they would love each other always. Both answered "yes."

"Now, have you got a ring?" asked the Justice.

"No, by George, I haven't," said Signor Parisi, as if he had just thought of it.

"Well, it doesn't matter. I just asked because it's the custom. Give me your right hands."

He found Parisi's right hand for him and Miss Scogin placed hers in it. Justice Cronin then placed his own ample palm over the two and said simply:

"Now you're married, and good luck to you."

Thus they were bound to each other.

"Well, it has all come out all right, and all's well that ends well," said Miss Scogin with a smile, as she kissed Parisi.

"We'll have to hurry now," said Signor Parisi. "I want to get home for that music lesson. You see," he explained to Justice Cronin, "I've been through this before."

They hurried to Olive street and boarded a car for Signor Parisi's apartments, where they intend to live. The wedding journey will be deferred until next June.

On the way to City Hall Miss Scogin told a Post-Dispatch reporter of her acquaintance with Signor Parisi.

"I lived in St. Louis as long as 14 years ago," she said.

"I took lessons from Mr. Parisi, and we came to know each other very well.

"When my mother died two years ago, I had to think of learning to care for myself and my sister. I went to Chicago and there met Mrs. Daniel Frohman who advised me to go on the stage, after she had heard me give Shakespearian readings. I wrote to Mr. Parisi about it, and he told me not to do it.

"It was then that I first realized that I was beginning to love him. With the prospects of a career before me. I told him that I was willing to give it all up for him. Since then we have lived for this day.

"Mr. Parisi is a very great artist. He received his first musical education at Milan. I am very proud of him."

"We will not take a bridal tour at present," said Signor Parisi to a Post-Dispatch reporter Thursday. "I have found it impossible to leave St. Louis at present. But next June we shall go aboard, and shall spend several weeks in Paris, besides making a tour of the Continent.

"Yesterday afternoon I was unable to go downtown to await the news of the decree, but I had every edition of the Post-Dispatch brought to me until, in the eighth edition, I saw the announcement that the decree had been granted. Then I telephone to Martha at once."

"Why should we wait any longer? My life is nothing to me without her, and as for her, she has told me she would rather be my wife than to be the greatest of artists.

"But she shall be a great artist, too. Already she is an accomplished violinist, and I will perfect her.

"Since we first met two years ago we have known that we can be happy only with each other. She had at that time a scholarship in a Chicago dramatic school, but gave this up, and we both formed the hope, which has now been fulfilled, that we might be married."

"I am happy," said Mrs. Marie Parisi at her home, 4430 Lindell boulevard, to a Post-Dispatch reporter Thursday. "I have no matrimonial plans, I am sure.

"I shall remain in St. Louis probably through the winter, and shall go to Italy in the spring."

It was announced in court when the decree was granted that an agreement as to alimony had been reached. This consisted, it was stated, of a nearly equal division of the violinist's property.

REFERENCES TO "MARTHA" IN MARIE PARISI'S FAMOUS DIARY

July 5—I wonder if he is under the influence of a woman, and the one I suspect. I told him that I am more afraid for him than for myself, as I am quite strong, while he is of a very nervous temperament.

July 7—G. received three telgrams, which I opened, thinking they were for me, but they are from Martha, his friend. I made him tell me the truth and we agreed to go back to Paris. I agreed to a separation and he sent a telegram to her on the steamer that he would meet her.

Life is no longer possible when one cannot trust the other. I am writing this on the train as I travel from Milan to Paris.

July 8—Back in Paris. G. has sent M. another telegram. He will meet her in New York, as he is to sail Friday on La Lorraine.

July 9—I am to remain alone in Paris for a month.

July 22—G. met Martha at the pier. She came to me with tears in her eyes and said: "Won't you speak to me?" She took me by surprise. At first I resisted, but before I knew it she kissed me and I said to her, "I hope you will take good care of him. His health is not very good." She answered, "What a great woman you are."

JENKINS DIVORCE PAPERS MISSING

Records of Court Also Show Discrepancies Which Are Not Explained.

JUDGE'S NAME FORGED?

Mayor Cook's Name Signed at Time He Was Not Presiding.

Discrepancies in the records of the East St. Louis City Court will be brought to light in the trial of Maj. Thomas K. Jenkins and his second wife, named Freddie M. Fletcher, in warrants charging a statutory offense on which she and the Major have been arrested at Moberly, Mo.

Maj. Jenkins was divorced Aug. 26, 1895, from his first wife, Mrs. Nancy J. Jenkins, who figures as complaining witness in the prosecution and who says she has pursued her husband for 10 years to revenge herself upon him.

According to the records of the East St. Louis City Court Mrs. Nancy Jenkins applied in March, 1896, to have the case redocketed and this was done and Jenkins ordered to pay $75 alimony pendente lite by Aug. 1. It has been supposed that the decree was set aside at the August term of that year as the order bears date of that year and term.

W. C. Love of counsel for Maj. Jenkins, finds the order so recorded, but signed by Silas Cook as judge, and he did not become judge until 1898. He finds that the order is entered in the court record of 1899 between two cases bearing date of June 10, 1899, and June 17, 1899, but bearing the caption "August term, 1896."

He declares that Maj. Jenkins was never notified of any such procedure and was not present either in person or by counsel.

Thomas Healey, clerk of the City Court, is perplexed by the discrepancy. When he looked Wednesday for the papers in the case, expecting to be aided by them in straightening the thing out, he found that they had disappeared and he does not know where they are.

The case does not appear on any docket between March, 1896 when the order for alimony was issued and the case was continued, and August, 1899, when the record setting aside the decree seems to have been made.

Mr. Healey hopes that Mayor Cook, formerly Judge, will be able to help him unravel the mystery when he returns to East St. Louis the latter part of the week.

When Major Jenkins and his second wife were arraigned at Moberly they pleaded not guilty and wanted to be tried forthwith, but the prosecution asked for a continuance to admit of needed documents being obtained.

BRIDEGROOM RELEASED.

Fred W. Meyersick, 3720 Marcus avenue, the bridegroom of a month against whom Assistant Circuit Attorney Johnson refused to issue an information at the solicitation of the Police Department, was discharged from custody Thursday morning in the Old City Hall Police Court. The technical charge against him was "idling."

Meyersick was confined in the Four Courts hold-over for 48 hours following his arrest Tuesday at Fourteenth and Olive streets where he was in the company of a man suspected of running a policy game.

Meyersick admitted Thursday in the courtroom that he had formerly been a policy writer, but that he had quit the game after Polk's election. He stated to Judge Tracy that he was regularly employed by the M. K. & T. R. R. and had no complaint to register against the police. Detective Madsen stated that he had arrested Meyersick a number of times and had found policy outfits on his person.

CARBON MONOXIDE FATAL TO WOMAN

Dr. Abeken Explains Mrs. McLean's Death Was Not by Asphyxiation.

Carbon Monoxide poison and not asphyiation caused the death of Mrs. Imogene McLean who was found dead from the effect of escaping gas in her room at 1143 Olive street Wednesday morning according to a spectroscopic test made by Post Mortem Physician F. W. Abeken at the Coroner's office, in the presence of Deputy Coroner Lloyd Thursday morning.

Dr. Abeken made a thorough test of the blood taken from the veins of Mrs. McLean and showed by the lines of the spectrum that carbon monoxide was present in sufficient quantities to cause death, while no trace of the poison could be found in specimens of normal blood which he put to the same test.

Explaining his experiments Dr. Abeken said: "There was no asphyxiation here and my researches show that the term asphyxiation as applied to illuminating gas is a misnomer. Carbon monoxide is a virulent poison which contaminates the blood in circulation just as uraemic acid does.

"When a person is choked or hanged he is asphyxiated, the word meaning that the oxygen in the air is cut off and that in the blood is used up in meeting the shock. In the case of Mrs. McLean I find that the blood still contains oxygen, but that the effect of the oxygen was nullified by the persence of this malignant poison, carbon monoxide."

An inquest into the death of Mrs. McLean is set for 9 a. m. Friday.

Investigation by the police shows that the man known as Samuel G. McLean who lived with Mrs. McLean and was also overcome by gas was not the woman's husband. According to his own statement his real name is Samuel G. Booker and he has a wife and two children in Cleveland, O. He took the name of Mrs. McLean's deceased husband when he formed an alliance with her three years ago.

MONEY SHARKS OFFER TO SETTLE

Usurious Claims Waived in an Effort to Escape Indictment

FOLK AIDS PROSECUTION

Cases Cited Where Double and Triple Payment Was Demanded.

Following the crusade against usurious money lenders, which has resulted in the arrest of two St. Louis men, employes of the Western Union Telegraph Co. have been collecting evidence against a large number of "loan sharks" throughout the State, and are preparing to submit data to grand juries and to the Federal authorities.

The co-operation of Kansas City operators has been insured, and a list of 500 St. Louisans has been compiled, all of whom are ready to go before the grand jury in this city and relate their experiences.

The local end of the work has been carried on under the direction of Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Thomas and an attorney employed by the telegraphers.

Since the arrest of Isaac Archerhoffer and Harry Palmer, numerous offers have been made by other money-lenders to settle outstanding claims at greatly reduced rates. These offers have all been refused, and, by direction of Mr. Thomas, all payments have been stopped on loans. The interest heretofore collected in the Western Union building has aggregated several hundred dollars a month.

The aid of Gov. Folk was solicited by C. W. Henry, leader of the local Western Union forces, and he pledged his support.

To the grand jury unlimited evidence will be submitted, embracing loans on salary and furniture. One case is cited of a boy under age who borrowed $5. He paid two $1 installments, let the loan run for a short time and then paid $5. He was presented then with a due bill, which indicated that he still owed $4.

Paid Debt, Still Owed It.

Another case cited is that of an operator who borrowed $30 and paid $24 interest. His salary was then attached for the full amount of the loan.

One of the Kansas City operators, now in St. Louis assisting in the collection of evidence, borrowed $100 for 30 days, giving a note for $110. The note ran six months before he was able to make a payment. He paid $56 that month and $39.87 the next, making a total of $115.87. When he asked for an accounting, he was informed that he still owed $75.

The following scale of rates, which the operators have compiled, shows the amounts that are exacted in payment of loans made them.

RATES ON FURNITURE LOANS.

Amount of Loan.	No. of Instal.	Payments Monthly.	Paid Total.
$10	6	$3 00	$18 00
20	5	6 25	31 50
25	6	6 25	37 50
30	8	6 00	48 00
35	8	7 00	56 00
40	6	10 00	60 00
45	7	9 00	63 00
50	10	7 50	75 00
60	12	7 50	90 00
75	11	10 00	110 00
100	12	14 00	168 00

Loans over $100 are made on the basis of 5 per cent a month, six full months interest being demanded, regardless of time, under six months, in which the loan is repaid.

RATES ON SALARY LOANS.

Amount of loan.	Installments.	Monthly Payments.	Total Paid.
$10	3	$4 60	$14 40
15	3	7 80	23 40
20	3	8 80	26 40
25	3	11 00	33 00
30	3	13 60	40 80
35	3	15 60	46 80
40	3	17 60	52 80
45	3	19 60	58 80
50	3	21 80	65 40

Largen amounts are loaned at the rate of 10 per cent a month straight. On all salary loans an application fee of 50 cents to $1 and a 25-cent notary fee are charged, whether the loan is made or not. This is payable in advance.

It is believed that the postal authorities can be interested, owing to the fact that threats have been sent through the mails. A fraud order will also be asked, advertising literature being submitted as evidence.

MAN SHOT; WOMAN SAVES

Plucky Dakota Teacher Drives Wounded Professor to Doctor.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

ABERDEEN, S. D., Nov. 23.—While hunting, the accidental discharge of a gun carried away the chin and jawbone of Prof. H. B. Collins of Eureka.

Miss Ruby Cole, a school teacher, who was with him in the buggy, tore her dress into strips and bandaged up the wounds, then began a 25-mile race across the prairies to a doctor with the unconscious man slowly bleeding to death. She saved his life, but when she reached Eureka herself and the buggy were covered with blood.

Funeral of Mrs. Robb.

The funeral of Mrs. Catherine B. Robb of 33 Vandeventer place, who died of old age Wednesday, will be held at 1 p. m. Friday at the home. The body will be taken to Jacksonville, Ill., for burial. Mrs. Robb was the widow of David Robb, formerly a merchant of Jacksonville. She is survived by five children, with one of whom, Mrs. Kate M. Howard, she made her home after her husband's death.

St. Louisans Share Estate.

Mrs. S. M. Reed of 4149 Shenandoah avenue and Mrs. Mary O'Leary of 4262 Shenandoah avenue are beneficiaries under the will of M. I. Wilcox of Toledo, O., who died leaving an estate estimated at $600,000. Mrs. Reed is to receive $5000 and Mrs. O'Leary an annuity of $50 a month. Wilcox was a pioneer merchant of Toledo. His wife, to whom the estate was bequeathed, died before he did, and under the terms of the instrument it descended to her heirs. Miss Grace F. Potter of Minneapolis was the chief beneficiary, receiving $100,000.

Everybody Who Has a Bell

Is Invited to Confer With the Contract Department Regarding Additional Facilities.

Now that the people are making it practically unanimous and that there is a Bell Telephone in so many homes, the interest naturally turns to additional facilities. In some streets there is a Bell Telephone in every house for blocks. An extension telephone installed in your upstairs hall or in your bedroom will prove to be a great comfort and convenience.

This also raises the question: Now that so many residences have Bell Telephones, is your business telephone overcrowded?

In either event it would be wise to call the contract department and have your telephone facilities brought up to date.

Perhaps your business is ripe for a Private Branch Exchange?

SULTAN REJECTS POWERS' DEMAND

Will Not Submit to Foreign Control of Finances of Macedonia.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 23.—The Sultan today issued an irade approving the decision of the Council of Ministers to reject the demands of the powers for international control of the finances of Macedonia.

Whether the rejection is absolute or conditional has not been definitely ascertained.

Vice-Admiral Husni Pasha has started on a special steamer for the Dardanelles, presumably with instructions for the commander of the forts regarding the commander's conduct in the event of the appearance of the international fleet.

Similar instructions have been sent to the Governors of the Turkish islands in the archipelago.

RUSSIAN PEASANTS PILLAGE ESTATES

Troops Unable to Cope With Rioters Burning the Harvested Crops.

MOSCOW, Nov. 22.—The revolutionists among the peasants are spreading the story that the imperial reform manifesto really decreed a division of the lands, but that the nobles, intelligencia and Jews distorted it and took all the freedom for themselves, and the peasants, therefore, have the right to possess themselves of the lands which the Emperor granted them.

The agrarian disorders in the district of Subzha have assumed such violence that the troops are unable to cope with them. The whole northern half of the district is in the hands of peasant rioters, who are pillaging the estates and burning the harvest crops. During the pillaging of one estate a company of Cossacks looked on, being unable to interfere.

In the Jurieff and Alexandrovsk districts of this government peasant mobs are demanding the surrender of the stocks of provisions, and are threatening to set torch to the whole locality and to storm the county treasuries.

MARQUIS ITO HURT BY KOREAN

Japanese Representative Hit on Head With Stone by a Riotous Korean.

LONDON, Nov. 23.—A dispatch to a news agency from Tokio says:

"A message received this morning from Seoul states that Marquis Ito was slightly injured by a stone thrown by one of a party of rioteus Koreans Wednesday night.

"The Marquis is president of the Japanese Council of Elder Statesmen, and had gone to Korea to establish Japanese control.

"The Koreans don't like him."

KENTUCKY CAPTAIN IS UNDER ARREST

Ernest Bell, Formerly Prominent, Charged With Stealing From Railroad.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 23.—On the charge of breaking into a railroad car and stealing brasses, Capt. Ernest Bell, formerly Quartermaster of the First Kentucky Artillery Battalion, and a member of a prominent Blue Grass family, with his home in Lexington, was held in $3000 bail.

His arrest is a great shock to his many friends throughout the State. He was taken into custody Nov. 2, but managed to conceal his identity until today. The downfall of Bell is one of peculiar interest.

He was made Quartermaster six years ago, but resigned his commission two years ago while the troops were in Breathitt County.

This caused him to lose caste among his friends. At that time he was conducting a stock farm near Lexington, but he suddenly ceased to prosper. On top of that his wife and two children died 15 months ago, and his business continued to meet with reverses.

77 Denied Divorce; 84 Proved She Had Hugged and Kissed 72

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MORRIS, Ill., Nov. 23.—Mrs. Rosita Horn, aged 77 was denied a divorce because her husband, Peter, aged 84, proved she had hugged and kissed her brother-in-law, aged 72.

The couple were married 10 years ago. Mrs. Horn charged cruelty and described how Peter squeezed her hand in a clothes wringer. Peter said his wife's frivolous conduct with men would make any man cruel, but, as a matter of fact, the wringer episode was an accident. The judge gave them a lecture on the dignity of age and sent them home.

GERMANY VIOLATE MONROE DOCTRINE?

Judge Penfield's Trip to Brazil Believed Was to Examine Aggressions.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Judge W. L. Penfield, solicitor of the State Department, who went on a secret mission to South America for President Roosevelt, has had a conference with the President.

It is generally believed that his trip South was to investigate Germany's violation of the Monroe Doctrine.

For a long time it has been declared that the Germans are not only making aggressions in every way under the direction of Emperor William, but that they were laying the foundation for a more serious infringement of the doctrine. In Brazil the Germans are colonizing on a large scale and there is some doubt as to whether or not the German Government is back of this movement. The colonization by the Germans is affecting Americans disastrously

COST BOY $50 TO LIGHT CIGARETTE

First Case Under Nebraska's New Law Results in Fine.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 23.—Under the provisions of the recently enacted anti-cigarette law, Pat Raymond, aged 18, was today fined $50 in Police Court for rolling a cigarette.

The case has attracted much interest from the fact that it is the first the law has been tested on as to whether the prohibition of the manufacture of cigarettes could be interpreted to apply to the rolling of a cigarette for personal use.

Raymond was seen by an officer to roll the cigarette and was arrested while in the act of lighting it. Police Justice Cosgrove imposed the minimum penalty, which is a fine of $50.

BLOW SAFE AND SCATTER MONEY

Amateur Burglars Escape With $250, Leaving Much More Behind.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 23.—A safe in the residence of J. F. Fernandez, a retired policeman, was blown open last night by amateur burglars, who obtained about $250 in gold and bills. The safe was shattered by a charge of nitroglycerine.

About $100 in gold, silver and bills was scattered all over the room by the force of the explosion. The robbers did not stop to gather it all up, but escaped with a pocketbook.

Fernandez lived alone in a barn-like building in the rear of a residence he owns. It is believed the thieves were familiar with his habits, as he was away from home at the time of the robbery.

The explosion was heard for blocks.

KIDNAPED AND MURDERED BY OYSTER MEN

Chesapeake Bay Master Shanghai Recruits for Crews From Philadelphia.

AN APPEAL TO ROOSEVELT

Woman Who Lost Husband Asks That Dredging Fleet Be Searched.

AGENT HAS DISAPPEARED

Representative of Fleet Masters on Hearing Government to Investigate Runs Away.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 23.—Outlawry has so incrased in the Chesapeake Bay oyster boats that the President has been appealed to by the relatives of men shanghaied aboard the fleet and thrown overboard or killed.

It is expected that the Government, so ready to heed the appeals of humanity in far off lands, will certainly put a stop to the cruelty on the small boats in the oyster trade.

Philadelphia is particularly concerned in the matter for three-fourths of the greenhorn oystermen impressed into this Chesapeake Bay service come from this city.

The allegations are duly authenticated, and it may be proved by hundreds of witnesses that the shanghai system through which crews are obtained for these boats are as vicious as anything the Government has been called upon to suppress in seaport cities.

Captain of Detectives Donaghy has written to the Commissioner of Navigation at Washington. He has also forwarded a letter to Attorney-General Carson at Harrisburg, appealing to the authorities of Pennsylvania.

Woman Appeals to Roosevelt.

Mrs. James C. McCabe, who believes her husband was murdered by the oyster men, has addressed a communication to President Roosevelt direct. It is understood, too, that the police force in Baltimore has requested the Government to clean up the oyster fleet.

In response to all these calls, it may be predicted that a revenue cutter will soon be steaming up to the fleet and giving the oyster boats the examination they need, releasing the men who have been shipped irregularly or forced aboard the boats.

Peter Barnes, one of the agents who has employed oyster men in Philadelphia, and who is alleged to have had a hand in shanghaieing both James McCabe and William Clark—both reported dead—has disappeared. His place of business at 514 South Front street is closed.

Detective Kielly is trying to find Barnes. The Baltimore authorities have promised, when Barnes is arrested to take into custody the three men who have been working with Barnes to get the men on the oyster boats.

Men Boldly Kidnaped.

Along the water front streets of Philadelphia men have been kidnaped boldly and carried off to Baltimore. They are first filled with liquor in the saloons, and while in this condition are offered easy jobs on the oyster boats at $22 a month and found.

Formerly they were taken to the trains in a stupefied condition, but the B. & O. Railroad has closed down on this. Now they are taken to the train partially sober, and to each man is given a bottle to supply his needs on the train.

The men are gathered together in tens or twenties, and taken to the Baltimore & Ohio station on the Walnut street cars. When they arrive in Baltimore a "Black Maria" just such a van as is used here to take prisoners to the House of Correction is backed up to the train and the men are clubbed into it. They are then carried to the wharves and put aboard the oyster boats, and in a few hours they find themselves tossing about in the Chesapeake.

Brutal Treatment on Boats.

Once out on the bay, working with the oyster tongs and dredges, the men are treated with all the brutality of the old-time slave ship or the most rascally modern "lime juicer."

Mrs. McCabe said today: "I confidently feel my husband was murdered. He was taken ashore on Deals Island, three miles from the landing, and was knocked in the head and left there, so it would be thought he was drowned. She got this information from a man who escaped from the boat.

More Lays of Ancient Rome.

Ancient Rome, a concession on the Pike at the World's Fair, which never opened its doors and whose participation in the Fair was confined to a building of circular shape in which were displayed Styka's Quo Vadis paintings, figured Thursday in a hearing before Referee in Bankruptcy Walter D. Coles in the Security Building. The Wabash Woodworking Co., which put up the building, is acting, through the referee, to have Gustav Richter, one of the St. Louis promoters of the concession, declared a bankrupt in an effort to collect a judgment for $3100 rendered against him by Judge Ryan in their favor.

SHONTS MAY BE DISMISSED CANAL BOARD

Gross Carelessness and Recklessness of Panama Management Causes Scandal.

LAW HAS BEEN VIOLATED

Involving Government in Debt Contrary to Provisions of Federal Statute.

EXCEEDED THEIR POWERS

Funds of the Panama aRilroad, Owned by Government, Borrowed for the Canal.

By Wire from the Washington Bureau Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Gross mismanagement and reckless extravagance have marked the conduct of the Panama Canal Commission.

As a result the commissioners may be summarily removed from office and punished by fine or imprisonment for violation of law in entering into contracts not authorized by law.

The canal commission is heavily in debt and contractors are clamoring for the payment of their bills for goods delivered months ago. The canal commission will ask Congress for an emergency appropriation of $16,000,000 to pay its expenses for the next six months. It has entered into contracts for material amounting to $9,000,000, and it will need $7,000,000 for expenses from the present time to June 30 next. It owes from $500,000 to $1,000,000 to the Treasury of the Panama railroad, a corporation owned by the Government.

It has been unable to repay this amount because the $10,000,000 appropriated by Congress for work on the canal has been expended. When the railroad officials called on the canal company to repay the loan they were unable to do so.

It was necessary for the railroad to borrow the amount of the loan in the markets in order to conduct its business.

Congressmen Astonished.

Senators and Representatives already in the city are astonished at the recklessness and extravagance of the canal commission. Congress will undoubtedly call the commissioners to account and probably will legislate them out of office.

Since the advisory board of consulting engineers recommended the building of a sea level canal, which will cost $100,000,000 more than a lock canal, members of Congress, from Speaker Cannon down, agree that the only course to pursue is for Congress to make an investigation of what has been done and to place a number of checks on the extravagance of the commissioners.

In addition to the contracts for $9,000,000 the Canal Commission is $1,500,000 in debt for material already purchased which cannot be paid for until Congress provides the funds. The big contractors of New York and Chicago are now proposing to organize for the purpose of boycotting the canal, because of what they consider the unjust treatment they have received at the hands of the Government.

Contractors on Verge of Bankruptcy.

These contractors furnished the Government supplies for the canal some of which were shipped last August, but owing to the confusion existing on the Isthmus, acknowledgment of the receipts of the materials have not yet been made.

Payment cannot be made until it can be shown the goods were delivered, and even these bills cannot be paid until Congress makes an appropriation. The contractors declare they were led to believe that the goods would be paid for within a reasonable time.

Some of them are on the verge of bankruptcy because of the large amount of money tied up in Government contracts. The Government owes one firm $100,000, and there are many to whom the Government is indebted from amounts varying from $5000 to $50,000.

For some time these contractors have discussed the proposition of organizing for the purpose of refusing to sell more supplies to the Government, but this action has not yet taken definite form.

Utter Confusion in Commission.

Utter confusion and demoralization exists in the commission here, and among the consulting engineers. The members of the Advisory Board of Engineers are angry with the President, and declare they have been insulted by him.

Before they began consideration of the data submitted to them on which they were to base their decision as to whether the cannal should be a sea level or a lock canal, they visited the President at Oyster Bay.

Mr. Roosevelt in a speech which was given out at the White House after his return here, told the members of the board that he favored a sea-level canal. He instructed them not to consider his wishes, but to decide on the best type of canal. They construed this as instructions from the President to decide upon a sea-level waterway.

This was done after considering the matter for nearly a month, and the day after their decision was announced the President stated that he is not in favor of a sea-level canal, and was angry because the board decided the question in this way, remedially as a sea-level canal will cost $100,000,000 more than a lock canal.

Say President Is Insulting.

The foreign members of the canal declare they have been insulted by the President, but as their work is completed there is nothing left for them to do.

President Roosevelt may be called on summarily to dismiss Chairman Shonts and the other canal commissioners for violation of law. The last Congress passed a law which provided that no department of the Government shall expend in any fiscal year any sum in excess of the appropriations made by Congress for that year or involve the Government in any contract or obligation for the future payment unless specifically authorized by law.

The penalty for violation of this law is summary dismissal from office and punishment by a fine of not less than $100 or by imprisonment for not less than one month. While the commissioners have the right to make contracts, they have no authority to expend funds unappropriated.

WEDDING IN SICK ROOM.

Bride Refuses to Await Return of Health.

Postponing a wedding brings bad luck in the opinion of Miss Jean Lightner of 4940 Washington avenue. She is propped up in bed recovering from a two weeks' attack of appendicitis, and Rev. Dr. J. W. Williamson of Third Baptist Church married her there to Norman C. Naylor of Chicago rather than incur bad luck by delay. It was the anniversary of the wedding day of the bride's mother.

Only relatives attended the ceremony. As soon as Mrs. Naylor recovered sufficiently a bridal tour will be taken through the East. Mr. and Mrs. Naylor were formerly schoolmates in Chicago, and have been sweethearts for several years. He is a son of J. Willis Naylor of Chicago.

NEGRO SLAYS THREE.

Shoots His Wife and Her Parents.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MERIDIAN, Miss., Nov. 23.—John Brown, a negro, aged 30, shot and killed his wife and her father and mother yesterday evening in their home in Tin Row in this city.

Brown and his wife had separated, he living in Cuba, Ala., and he was in the city to beg her to return to him. He spent several hours with her and started to leave with his younger brother. He made an excuse to get a match, returned to the house, shot his wife through the heart while she was standing at a hydrant drinking.

Her mother went to the door step and Brown shot her through the heart. After she fell he walked over and shot her through the back. The girl's father, Walter McShann, got out of a sick bed, secured a shot gun and staggered to the door steps. Brown shot him through the heart, McShann shooting as he fell.

Brown is believed to have been wounded. He escaped through the woods towards the railroad, threatening to kill any one who interfered with him.

Harry Goodwin's Tribute

For Over Two Years Harry Goodwin Suffered Agonizing Pains and Felt Himself Wasting Away, but Now He Is Absolutely Well. Thanks to Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey.

"I Shall Always Keep a Bottle in the House and Will Never Be Without It as Long as I Live." He Writes:

HARRY GOODWIN

"For over two years I have felt myself wasting away to a general breakdown of the system, caused by overwork. I felt terrible pains in the back, which caused me to think I was also suffering from kidney trouble. I consulted many physicians, who gave me but temporary relief. I also tried many patent medicines, with invariably the same result. I began to think of traveling with the view of improving my health, when it occurred to me that I had better use Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. I began its use, and from the first felt considerably better, and now today, after taking several bottles, I feel absolutely well, and attribute the cure to Duffy's only. I shall always keep a bottle in the house and will never be without it as long as I live."—HARRY GOODWIN, 104 Hanover Street, Boston, Mass.

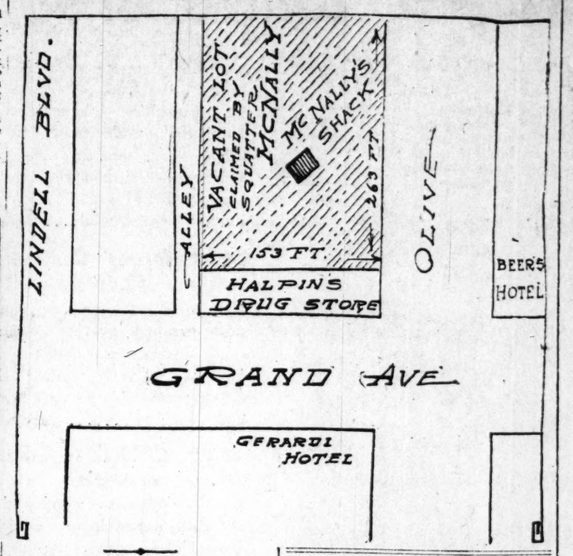

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey cures coughs, colds, consumption, bronchitis, grip, catarrh, asthma, pneumonia and all diseases of the throat and lungs; indigestion, dyspepsia and all forms of stomach trouble; nervousness, malaria, and all low fevers. It is prescribed and used by over 7000 doctors. Used exclusively in over 2000 hospitals. It keeps the old young and the young strong. Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey contains no fusel oil, and is the only whiskey recognized by the Government as medicine.

CAUTION—When you ask for Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey be sure you get the genuine. Unscrupulous dealers, mindful of the excellence of this preparation, will try to sell you cheap imitations and malt whiskey substitutes, which are positively harmful. Demand "Duffy's" and be sure you get it. It is the only absolutely pure Malt Whiskey. Sold in sealed bottles only; never in bulk. Look for the trademark, the "Old Chemist," on the label, and be certain the seal over the cork is unbroken. All druggists and grocers, or direct, $1.00 a bottle. Interesting medical booklet free to any one. Duffy Malt Whiskey Co., Rochester, New York.

LOCATION OF VALUABLE OLIVE STREET GROUND SQUATTER CLAIMS

SQUATTER CLAIMS OLIVE ST. GROUND.

Contends Occupancy of Land Near Grand Avenue for 10 Years Decisive.

HE BUILT HIS SHOP ON IT

Leased It to Another and Went to Australia, But Has Returned.

A squatter's claim on high-priced vacant ground in the heart of St. Louis is being contested in the United States Circuit Court and preliminary arguments will be made Friday in the case.

The ground in question measures 260x152 feet and is located just west of the drug store on the southwest corner of Grand avenue and Olive street. Along the Olive street front a high billboard hides it.

Ten years ago Peter McNally, a carpenter, put up a small shop on the lot. He asked the consent of no one. Rough second-hand lumber was used in the construction. It had an earth floor and the single window and door were second-hand mill work.

For a long time no one entered objection. The owners lived in Philadelphia and if they knew of the "shack" it was only through the report of their St. Louis agent. Now Peter McNally asserts that he has a legal claim to the ground by virtue of occupancy for 10 years continuously. The common law, so he and his attorneys contend, gives a squatter, whose occupancy is not successfully questioned for a decade, a title to the ground occupied.

Claimant in Australia.

Eleven months ago McNally went to Australia. He left the ground and its occupancy in charge of Roy A. Millot, another carpenter, and executed a formal lease, drawn up by his lawyers, to Millot.

When the St. Louis agent saw McNally's name painted out on the sign above the "shack" and that of Millot substituted he became suspicious, and notified Millot that he would have to pay rent or get off. Millot refused to pay rent, showing his lease from McNally, and saying he was paying rent to McNally. Then came the suit for ejectment which is now pending in the Federal Circuit Court.

The record title to the lot is in Edwin S. Megargee of Philadelphia, and the Pennsylvania Insurance Co., testamentary trustees of the estate of Charles Hardee of Philadelphia.

Hardee died in 1897, without near relatives, willing the lot with the rest of his property to a number of interests, among them the Catholic archdiocese of Philadelphia, of which Archbishop Ryan is the head.

Squatter Sued for $1000.

The plaintiff in the suit in ejectment, Edwin S. Megargee, asked damages from Roy A. Millot in the sum of $1000 for unlawful detainer. About a month after the filing of the suit McNally appeared in St. Louis prepared to defend his claim.

The attorneys for the owners of the lot are charmed with the fine legal points involved.

"McNally cannot make good his claim," said Robert Burkham, one of the attorneys in the case. "The squatter claimant, to have a title in law, must, for at least 10 years, have made an open and notorious claim to the ground to all comers. He must have ejected from the ground all rival claimants; he must have made improvements of value, paid taxes and given unmistakable evidence of ownership."

CHURCH EXPELS "RAILER"

Former Treasurer of Immanuel Congregation Dismissed.

Members of Immanuel Congregational Church, Lindenwood, believe that the dismissal from membership of A. W. Gray, former treasurer of the church, will lead to the withdrawal of the resignation of Pastor Edward N. Goff and the reuniting of the congregation.

At a special called meeting of the church Wednesday night Gray was dismissed from membership on a charge of "railing," the specifications being that he had opposed the building of a new church and the use of the old one as a gymnasium, and that he had stirred up strife in the congregation.

The dismissal of Gray was accomplished by a vote of 30 to 1, on motion of Deacon H. E. Fullis, and against the protest of Rev. Mr. Goff. Gray was not present and there was no defense in his behalf.

Death of Mrs. Nancy Meyers.

The funeral of Mrs. Nancy Meyers, who died of apoplexy Tuesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. F. D. Johns, 3111 Bell avenue, occurred at Boonville, Mo., today. Mrs. Meyers was the widow of the late William F. Meyers of Boonville and was 81 years of age. Two daughters, besides Mrs. Johns, Mrs. Maggie Wilson of St. Joseph, Mo., and Miss Kate Meyers of this city, and two sisters, Mrs. Jane M. Nelson and Mrs. Dr. Rush of Boonville, survive her.

BORROWED WIFE; LANDING REFUSED

Russian Immigrant, Trapped, Must Return and Face Spouse No. 2.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—J. Kuck, an immigrant from Witobsk, Russia, borrowed a wife and came to America with her, together with his little son.

It is true that the woman who posed as Kuck's wife had formerly been legally married to him, and it was this discovery accidentally made, that obliged the Immigration Bureau to send them all back to Russia, where lots of trouble awaits Kuck when he meets wife No. 2.

Twenty years ago Kuck married Rasse Rojvenski in Witobsk. They lived together 14 years, and were then divorced. Then Kuck married Marie Petrofsky, his present wife. They have a 3-year-old child.

Kuck decided to emigrate to America and obtained passports for himself, wife and son, but he told Marie he would take his little son, make a home for her, and then send for her.

The frontier town, through which they were to leave Russia, happened to be the one in which his first wife, Rasse Rojvenski, was living.

"This passport calls for a wife as well as a child," said the officials when they came to vise the document. "You must produce a wife before you go."

So Kuck sought out his first wife, who did not require much persuasion to comply with his request to accompany him to America. At Ellis Island she said her maiden name was Rojvenski. Kuck said it was Petrofsky. This led to exposure of the whole story.

"Boro-Formalin" (Elmer & Amend) used as a tooth and mouth wash in the morning leaves the mouth sweet and pure all day.

JIMMY DE MULE TO GO.

Condemnation Signs Posted Along Market Street.

Condemnation notices were posted Thursday by Building Commissioner J. A. Smith on the tumble-down one and two story buildings on Market street, between Sixth and Seventh streets. Unless the owners, the Burues estate of St. Joseph, Mo., wreck the buildings within a month the city will wreck them at their expense. An appropriation of $500 for such uses has just become available.

The block is the most extraordinary in St. Louis, especially after nightfall. Saloons, shooting galleries, restaurants and lodging houses for hoboes lean against each other and fill the block. The places of Tom Allen, "Champion's Rest;" Jimmy de Mule's "Only second-class saloon on earth," and the resort of Bantam Daly are all located on this block, and all will go.

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL.

Few People Know How Useful it is in Preserving Health and Beauty.

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose.

Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system.

Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, drinking or after eating onions and other odorous vegetables.

Charcoal effectually clears and improves the complexion, it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic.

It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh.

All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges; they are composed of the finest powdered willow charcoal, and other harmless antiseptics in tablet form or rather in the form of large, pleasant tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixed with honey.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is, that no possible harm can result from their continued use, but on the contrary, great benefit.

A Buffalo physician in speaking of the benefits of charcoal, says: "I advise Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges to all patients suffering from gas in stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat; I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them; they cost but twenty-five cents a box at drug stores, and although in some sense a patent preparation, yet I believe I get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets."

REFORM FIGHT VICTORS TO MEET

New York Dinner Designed to Give Impetus to Anti-Boss Movement.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—To give impetus to the anti-boss movement and to bring the reform leaders together, the City Club will give a dinner next Tuesday at which the leading visitors in the reform fights at the recent election will be guests. The speakers will be District Attorney Jerome, Mayor Tom Johnson of Cleveland, Senator-elect Colby of New Jersey, and probably Mayor Weaver of Philadelphia.

Invitations have been sent to Mayor-elect Dempsey of Cincinnati, Mayor Fagan of Jersey City, William P. Martin and Frank H. Sommer of Newark; George Record of Jersey City; Brand Whitlock, Mayor-elect of Toledo; Mayor Osborne of Auburn, N. Y. James R. Burnett, chairman of the club's dinner committee, said:

"The dinner is not so much to celebrate recent victories as to bring together the leaders of these movements in order that by a comparison of experiences we may learn what we may fairly expect in the future from independent movements of this character."

Roosevelt Invited to Missouri.

To get President Roosevelt as the principal speaker at its banquet in Kansas City to celebrate Lincoln's birthday, Feb. 12, next, has become the object of a determined movement on the part of the Young Republicans' Association of Missouri. An invitation has been sent to the President as the result of a meeting of the association Wednesday at the Southern Hotel. Among those present at the meeting were Dr. E. B. Clements of Macon, president; Rush C. Lake, assistant attorney-general, Jefferson City; W. B. C. Brown, secretary to Senator Warner, Kansas City, and Judge S. P. Spencer, St. Louis.

YOUTHFUL ELOPER WHO HAS ENTERED THE NAVY

WALTER OSBORNE JONES.

ROMANTIC YOUTH TAKES "SETTLER"

Walter Jones Enlisted in Navy to Steady Him for an Inheritance.

ELOPED WHEN HE WAS 17

Will Come Into Small Fortune When He Is Discharged by Uncle Sam.

Believing that "sea-legs" acquired in the United States Navy will aid him materially in keeping in the straight and narrow path when at 21 he comes into possession of $3500 cash, Walter Osborne Jones, age 17, 812 North Compton avenue, left today for Norfolk, Va., to become an apprentice on the United States Steamer Franklin.

Jones was one of a number of naval recruits accepted during the past few days and forwarded to the naval station by the local recruiting officers.

On Feb. 24, 1909, if the course of events in his life brings that day to him, young Jones will be 21 years old and will be discharged from the navy. At the same time he will come into legal possession of the estate left by his uncle, the late Will Walter Jones of Montreal, Can.

The uncle died during August, 1905 and left to his favorite nephew his entire estate which had been converted into cash and is now being held in trust by the Montreal branch of the Bank of England. The young man during a recent visit north investigated the bequest and is assured that the money will be forthcoming when he is of age.

There was no clause in the will commanding him to serve his country, but a previous experience with $600 acquired easily convinced young Jones that it will be best for him to steady himself before entering life as a youthful capitalist.

Eloped When 17.

Attending a dance one night he met Miss Marie Green of Fairbury, Mo. They eloped to East St. Louis and were married. He had just passed his 17th birthday. The bride was 21. The young couple spent three days at the home of his mother, Mrs. Minnie Carpenter, 812 North Compton avenue, and then separated. Jones says his wife left him.

He went into the poolroom business on Sixth street, and so continued until notified of his inheritance. He believes upon his discharge from the navy he will have seen enough of the world to realize the value of dollars.

Following the usual custom of the service his term of enlistment will take him around the world, his spending money being limited to his pay, which varies from $9 to $15 per month.

The Guild Society of Centenary Church

Have engaged Miss Nannie Barbee of Kentucky, who will impersonate the "Old Time Negro of the South" in character sketches, at Odeon Recital Hall, Monday evening, Nov. 27. Admission 50 cents.

While this is Miss Barbee's first appearance in St. Louis, she comes highly recommended and indorsed by those who have heard her in Chicago, Washington and Louisville.

Rev. Scadding to Lecture.

Rev. Charles Scadding of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, Chicago, Ill., will lecture on "The Church in America," Friday evening at the Church of the Holy Communion, Washington avenue and Twenty-eighth street. The lecture is the same which he recently delivered in England. He has had much experience in East Side New York mission work.

Widow Late Secretary State Gets Jugment Against Railroad.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Nov. 23.—Mrs. Matilda Gresham, widow of Walter Q. Gresham, Secretary of State in Cleveland's cabinet, won her damage suit against the Indiana Harbor Railroad. A jury in the Superior Court returned a verdict of $3000 in her favor. Mrs. Gresham sued for $20,000 for damages alleged to have been inflicted on the Gresham farm in Warren County by the construction of the railroad.

ADD TEN FOR DOUGHERTY.

Grand Jury Find More Indictments Against Peorian.

PEORIA, Ill., Nov. 23.—The grand jury here has returned ten additional indictments today against Newton C. Dougherty, ex-school superintendent and banker here. This makes the total number of indictments 158. The bail was today raised from $60,000 to $106,000. Dougherty is still in jail, where he will have to remain until his case is called. It is probable that the trial will come early next week. The state's attorney is anxious to push the case for the defense say they will be ready for trial.

Contemporary Club Dinenr.

The Contemporary Club will meet Thursday evening at the Washington Hotel. The after-dinner address will be given by Edward Howard Griggs on "Education for the Art of Life."

JEALOUS, SAW THE CHIEF

Wife Asked to Have Detectives Watch Husband.

Chief of Police Kiely was a witness in the divorce suit of Frederick E. Caldwell, an electrical engineer, against his wife, Kittie Caldwell, in Judge McDonald's division of the Circuit Court Wednesday. He held the stand for one minute while he related that the wife had asked him to assign detectives to watch her husband, to establish the fact that he was flirting with girls employed in the Machinery Building at the World's Fair, where the husband was also employed.

Caldwell asserted in his testimony that his wife has a violent temper, and cited in proof that she had once struck him with a stove lifter.

Mrs. Caldwell testified in support of her crossbill that her husband was addicted to drink, and that he once made her sleep on the floor.

Judge McDonald dismissed the wife's crossbill with the remark that he was not greatly impressed with her testimony, and took the husband's petition under advisement.

Detective Came Too Late.

A. Margulis, a junk dealer at 1414 Franklin avenue, who was arrested on information charging him with being a fugitive from justice, was released by Judge Matt G. Reynolds because of a flaw in the indictment that had been returned against him in Pittsburg. George M. Cole, a Pittsburg detective, sent to take him there, arrived five minutes after Margulis had been released.

COUNT WITTE SUFFERS PARALYSIS OF ARM

LONDON, Nov. 23.—"Count Witte suffered at the close of last week partial paralysis of the left arm," the St. Petersburg correspondent of the Standard reports, "accompanied by brief attacks of fainting. This paralysis of the arm lasted several hours.

"Witte was similarly affected once before."

The Daily Express correspondent says: "The Premier was sitting at his desk when suddenly he fell forward unconscious.

"Since the publication of the Czar's manifesto Witte has worked practically night and day. Last week he never quitted his office save for a 15-minute walk in the evening, and frequently he took his meals at his desk."

Mr. Dillon, the Daily Telegraph's correspondent, says:

"Witte had an audience with the Czar on Tuesday, subsequently presiding at a lengthy cabinet council."

THREE KILLED BY GUN.

Weapon of Hedge Family in Illinois Has Record.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

FAIRFIELD, Ill., Nov. 23.—A shotgun belonging to the Hedge family near here killed three people in two years accidentally. Locker Hedge, aged 21, was shot and killed Tuesday near his home at Golden Gate. The young man was hunting and was standing on a stump watching the quail, with the gun cocked and the stock resting on the stump, when it slipped off and was discharged. Just three months ago today young Hedge accidentally shot and killed his mother, Mrs. Geo. Hedge, with the same gun. Geo. Hedge has since married Mrs. Sarah Hedge, the widow of Ed Hedge, his cousin, who was shot and killed with the same shotgun about two years ago.

ARREST WOMAN'S SLAYER

Chicago Police Have Burglar Who Killed Miss Reese.

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—High police officials said early today that they had the murderer of Miss Maud Reese.

"The man who killed the girl is a prisoner at the Canalport Avenue Station," said a police lieutenant who has been working on the case under Assistant Chief Schuettler. "I cannot give out his name and I cannot tell where he was captured. But I am positive that he is the man.

"To show how the department stands, I will add that the police have ceased working on the case. Our work is finished."

A man who gave the name of John Belknap was arrested early today in a saloon. He is regarded as an important find.

Through all of yesterday it was said there was no clew of value. Miss Reese was murdered in her apartment, 200 Evanston avenue, Tuesday evening.

JUST A WORD TO THANKSGIVING BRIDES

Someone has truly said that "the useful and beautiful are never far apart." The truth of the statement is verified in the charming display of goods which line every aisle of the great "Sommers' Exposition." The latest creations of designer and manufacturer are rapidly arriving and the exhibit is large and interesting. Travel the world over and you will not find many superior Furniture stores, and few its equal. This may seem a rather bold assertion to those who have never become acquainted with us; but to the great majority of St. Louis housewives it is an acknowledged truth; and if you should think we are lacking in quantity in any certain department, you cannot help but admit that we more than make up the deficiency in quality. Not only so, but we have an exclusiveness of stock and positive money-savings which are hard to surpass.

We are the only house in St. Louis who can sell the McDougall Kitchen Cabinet, and we are also agents for several other makes. Some priced as low as..... $4.50

It is a complete combination of kitchen, cupboard and pantry, in a single piece of attractive and useful kitchen furniture, occupying floor space no larger than the regulation kitchen table. Its excellent construction has long since been declared perfect. Only carefully selected, well-seasoned wood is used, and thus warranted to stand the varying temperatures of the kitchen. Each part is grooved and glued, instead of nailed. The designs are pleasing and graceful. The finish will remain beautiful, even in steam and moisture. The trimmings, table working surface, cupboard room, china closets, bins—in fact every one of its many features is all that could be desired. Every one is thoroughly guaranteed by the makers and ourselves.

SHOOTS GIRL'S TWO BROTHERS; KILLS HIMSELF

Jealous Cuban Was Trying to Get in House to Kill His Sweetheart.

BOYS STOP HIM AT DOOR

Harry Britton Dead and Frank Dying From Wounds, at Nyack, N. Y.

MURDERER GETS AWAY

Unable to Break Door, Makes Escape, Only to Take His Own Life.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NYACK, N. Y., Nov. 23.—Mrs. Mira Britton of Marion street went to Brooklyn to visit relatives, leaving her daughter, Jessie, aged 16, and her two sons, Frank and Harry, at home.

Her last words to them were to summon her back should a Cuban, known as W. H. Jones, who had been annoying Jessie with violent love, appear in the neighborhood.

The Cuban had annoyed the family and kept the girl in terror for more than two years. He had frequently been warned out of town by the police, on request of the family.

Harry is 18 years and his brother, Frank, 20. Last night Ethel Steward, a cousin, of the same age as Jessie, was invited to dinner and the four sat down to the table at 6:30 o'clock. It was a merry little party until the sound of a footfall was heard on the walk outside.

The name of the Cuban came to the minds of the four at once. They could hear someone moving about the house, as though trying to peer in at the windows. The boys drew the blinds and tried to calm the girls, who had become frightened.

Attempts to Enter.

While they were talking someone stamped up the front steps and the doorbell rang. Loud knocking on the door followed.

"Don't go," said the terrified Jessie, seizing the arm of Harry, who had half arose. "It is Jones. I know it."

"I am not afraid of him. I will call the police and have him locked up if it is he," said Harry, and he went into the hall and opened the door. It was the Cuban.

"I want to see Jessie," he said.

"You cannot. I won't let you," said the youth.

"I am going to see her and I am going to kill her," cried the insane Cuban.

The words were heard by the two girls and Frank in the dining room. Frank sprang into the hall. The girls slammed the door and began to barricade themselves with the table, the chairs and the sideboard, screaming for help.

Younger Brother Killed.

Just as Frank appeared the Cuban tried to push past Harry. Harry grabbed him, but the intruder drew a revolver, pressed it against the youth's head and fired. Harry fell dead.

Frank seized the revolver arm of the murderer, but he, too, was thrown off. The madman shot twice. The first bullet struck Frank's left arm. The second pierced his chest, just above his heart. He fell over the body of Harry.

The maniac sprang over them and ran down the hall. The door was now securely barricaded. He could not open it. He cried for Jessie to open it and the girls continued to scream for help. Their cries evidently frightened the man, for he ran out into the street, losing his hat as he ran.

Frank raised himself with much difficulty and crawled across the street to the home of Constable Michael McNichols, opposite. McNichols ran out, called the police, and a posse started 10 minutes later. All night they searched the village and the surrounding country for the murderer, but in vain. An alarm was sent to the police of the surrounding towns.

This morning the Cuban's body, stark in death, was found back of the Baptist Church and his revolver beside it. Jones had shot himself through the heart.

Second Victim Cannot Live.

Frank was removed to the Nyack Hospital. He cannot survive his injuries say the surgeons. The two girls were so undone by the tragic event that it was many hours before they could be calmed.

Jones is a painter.

He is 35 years of age, swarthy, handsome and well educated. He came to Nyack two years ago and had not been here many weeks before he began to annoy Jessie, who was then 14 years old and a student in the High School. He was ordered by the police to leave.

He left town and did not reappear for several months. Then he went back and pursued the girl so persistently that she became terrified.

The police were again appealed to and Jones was again ordered to leave town. He reappeared several times after that. Recently the girl had seen him following her to and from school.

FAINTS ON SEEING BROTHER'S NAME

Mrs. William H. Phelps Read of His Injury in Car Accident.

16 HURT IN 7 MISHAPS

Slippery Rails and Smoky Atmosphere Blamed for Numerous Collisions.

Mrs. William H. Phelps, wife of the well-known Missourian, swooned at the breakfast table at the Southern Hotel Thursday morning when she read her brother's name in the list of sixteen persons injured in street car accidents in St. Louis Wednesday.

The injured man is Thomas O'Leary, a United Railways employe, and he is at the Mullanphy Hospital with a fractured skull and other injuries. Physicians say he will recover.

As soon as Mrs. Phelps was restored she and Col. Phelps left the table and hurried to the hospital.

In three of the accidents slippery rails and the dense smoke which has recently settled over the city at evening are given as contributing causes.

Crash on Grand Avenue.

Nine persons were hurt, one perhaps fatally, when a crowded southbound Grand car jumped the track at Lucas avenue, at 8 p. m. Wednesday, owing to an improperly operated switch, ran 150 feet along the asphalt and crashed into a telephone pole, breaking it off two feet from the ground.

Those injured were: Thomas O'Leary of 2614A Geyer avenue, a brother of Mrs. "Col." W. H. Phelps, skull fractured, bruised and cut; may not live: J. E. Keelan of 4978 Natural Bridge road, internally injured, both kneecaps fractured. Miss Clara Seagraves of 2332 Eugenia street, badly bruised; may be internally injured. Howard McDonald of 1244 Aubert avenue, 14 years old, kneecap dislocated. Frank Turner, saloon keeper, arms crushed. James Turner, his son, 16 years old, face cut and bruised about his body. Harry Scharf of 3421 South Grand avenue, groin injury. C. C. Meek of 5972A Theodosia avenue, shoulder sprained and face cut and bruised.

All the victims were taken to their homes except O'Leary, who is at Mullanphy Hospital.

J. E. McElroy of 4832 Leduc street, motorman, is said to have had only a few days' experience. The rate at which the car was traveling was estimated at about 10 miles an hour by passengers. McElroy held his place until after the collision with the telephone pole, and was not injured. W. W. Love of 5106 Wicklow place, the conductor, was unhurt.

Fourth Accident at Lee Avenue.

Two women and a man were hurt in a collision between an O'Fallon Suburban car and a Lee avenue car of United Railways lines at Lee and Fair avenues Wednesday afternoon. The accident is said to have been the fourth at that point within a year.

The injured were: Mrs. Mary Haagan of 1915 Blair avenue, 45 years old, internally injured, rib on right side probably fractured, condition critical; Mrs. Annie Albers of 1436 Chambers street, 38 years old, right hand wrenched, body bruised and face cut; James Morrow of 927 West Cabanne terrace, motorman on the Suburban car, scalp wound two inches long and cut over right eye.

Marguerite Morrow, the pretty 5-year-old daughter of the conductor, who was on the car to take a ride with her father, had the narrowest escape of any of the passengers, was thrown headlong from her seat. Afterward she ran to her father, who was running back and forth about the cars, dazed by the shock of the collision. She led him to the drug store of Benedict J. Ludwig, 4003 Lee avenue, where the cut in his head was dressed by Dr. G. D. Thompson of 4100 Lee avenue.

The crew on the Lee avenue car consisted of Motorman Charles Nelson of 3707 Page boulevard and Conductor Charles Geary of 2510 Bacon street. The Suburban crew was Motorman James S. Morrow of 927 West Cabanne terrace and Conductor James Geraghty of 6042 Horton place. There were eight passengers on both cars.

Collision on Lafayette Avenue.

Louis Misus of 2705 Shenandoah avenue was cut about the face and severely bruised when a west-bound Tower Grove car and northbound Bellefontaine car collided at 6 p. m. Wednesday at Lafayette avenue and Grattan street.

Motorman John Stark was in charge of the Tower Grove car and Motorman John Meekin of the Bellefontaine line. Both jumped and escaped injury. They say slippery rails made it impossible to apply their brakes effectively.

A Cass avenue and Olive street car collided at Sixth and Olive streets at 2 p. m. Wednesday, injuring two women and a girl, all passengers on the Olive street car. The crash of the impact was heard a block away and hundreds of people gathered around the scene. The Olive street car was derailed and its fender destroyed.

The injured were: Miss Rosie Turk of 1722 Carr street, 17 years old, ankle dislocated, bruises; Mrs. Florence Cooper of 5117 Washington boulevard, bruises; Mrs. Frank Sharpe of 3946 Lindell boulevard, back wrenched, bruises.

Motorman E. A. Prater of 512 Leonard avenue was in charge of the Olive street car, and Motorman John Foster of 2349 Cass avenue of the Cass avenue car.

DID MARSHALL FIELD JR., TRY KILL HIMSELF?

Son of Chicago Multi-Millionaire Inflicts Probably Fatal Wound With Revolver.

PHYSICIAN IS RETICENT

Says Might Have Been an Accident and Refers Inquirers to Patient's Uncle.

HAS BEEN IN BAD HEALTH

Relative Says Young Man Was Cleaning Guns for Hunting Trip When Shot.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—Marshall Field Jr., who shot himself in the abdomen in his home last night, may recover, but his condition is most critical.

The shooting is pronounced accidental by relatives and physicians, though another interpretation is put on it, due to the position of the wound and the secrecy maintained by all persons acquainted with the circumstances. Besides these his health had been bad for a long time.

Mr. Field, it is said, was cleaning a new automatic revolver on the second floor of the house. He was alone and no one heard the shot. He was found unconscious on the floor by the butler.

A trained nurse who had been attending his son saw instantly the dangerous character of the wound. She telephoned for Dr. Arthur Bevan. He found the bullet had entered the right side and perforated the liver and stomach. An ambulance was summoned and the unconscious man conveyed to the Mercy Hospital. There Dr. Bevan discovered that the bullet had passed almost entirely through the body. The missile was found just beneath the skin.

When the weapon was discharged the muzzle was pressed well back to the right side and it is this unaccountable position of the weapon that has caused comment. Dr. Bevan was asked: "Was there anything in the nature of the wound as you saw it to indicate suicide, or do you believe it was accidental?"

"I don't know anything about that; the operation and his condition is all I care to speak of."

Might Have Been Accidental.

The question was repeated and Dr. Bevan finally answered:

"It might have been accidental, but I cannot talk about that feature of the case. All questions of that sort I must refer to Mr. Henry Dibblee, Mr. Field's uncle."

Mr. Dibblee had a talk with Lowe, the butler, and Miss Penfield, the trained nurse. Four or five hours later he consented to talk with newspaper men.

"Mr. Field shot himself accidentally," he said. "He was alone and cleaning a revolver and some guns in preparation for a hunting trip. I have heard him speak of this contemplated hunting trip. The revolver was an automatic one and was in his hand. No one heard the shot, but we are certain it was accidental."

Took Life Easy.

Young Mr. Field never cared for business with his father in the great Field mercantile enterprise to any extent.

He has greatly enjoyed life, and has told his companions that his future being certain, he might as well enjoy the present.

When a few months ago Marshall Field Sr., was married in London, to Mrs. Delia Spencer Caton, the leader of society here, the younger Field was at his Lake Forest country home.

Early in September he left there suddenly and his friends here said he went to Massachusetts. He is 37 years old. His father was vastly pleased when he married Miss Louise Huck about 12 years ago. They have three children.

Soon after their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Field went to England, where he rented a fine estate near Leamington. There they lived until 1900, then returned here. Since then Marshall Field has taken a prominent part in society. Apparently, however, he enjoyed himself even more with his friends at his clubs.

Traveled in Fast Set.

Marshall Field Jr., counted among the friends of his youth the two sons of the millionaire, Potter Palmer, the two sons of the multimillionaire, George Pullman, the sons of his father's partner, Harlow N. Higinbotham, and other scions of the rich families along Michigan and Prairie avenues.

The crowd with which he traveled was a rapid one, for whom money was one of the easy things in life, and he was known around the Auditorium, the Grand Pacific, the Palmer House and other expensive resorts in Chicago.

Three years ago, when there was a general rush of Chicago's rich young men into politics, young Field was an aspirant for the office of alderman of the First Ward, then occupied by "Bath House John" Coughlan. He had the indorsement of some of the principal men of prominence of the city, but the machine beat him.

Marshall Field Sr., who was in New York when the young man was shot, is hastening home on a special train.

JEWEL THEFT IN WEST END FAMILY HOTEL

Lorraine Guests Reports Gems Missing From Her Room Worth $200.

EMPLOYES ARE HELD

Man Who Asked Religious Question Believed to Be Daylight Burglar.

HE RANSACKED A FLAT

Woman in Diamonds Helped Purse Snatcher Work on Broadway.

The police are investigating the report of a robbery from the Lorraine Hotel, 4304 Lindell boulevard, where Mrs. John W. Loader is said to have lost jewelry valued at more than $200 Wednesday night. Homer Hyatt, a fireman at the hotel, and Wells Williams and Barney Finch, bell-boys, held pending the investigation declare their innocence.

Mrs. Loader says the burglary occurred between 6:40 and 7:45 p. m. while she was at dinner. The articles were taken from the top drawer of the chiffonier in her room, she says. The list of missing jewelry given the police includes a gold horse shoe brooch, set with diamonds; three gold bracelets, a pearl-mounted ring, a gold collar with amethyst pendants, a heavy gold rope chain, a bar brooch with three corals. A small savings bank, containing $15 in change was taken also. Mrs. Loader's room is on the first floor.

Burglar Looked Plous.

A burglar thought to be operating under the guise of a religious worker, took from the home of Louis Zackert of 1835 South Fourteenth street, jewelry valued at more than $200 and $10 in cash. The police of Soulard Street Station began an investigation three hours after the case was reported. They have not found the pious burglar.

Mrs. Zackert left home at 2 p. m. on a shopping expedition. Not long after, a pleasant man, soberly attired and of earnest, thoughtful appearance, came to the home of a next-door neighbor of the Zackert family. He asked most of the questions usually asked by census-takers for churches, and after learning all that was desired about the family's church affairs, he indicated the flat adjoining and inquired.

"Do you know what church Mrs. Smith attends?"

"Smiths don't live there. That's where Zackerts live," was the answer.

Asked About Grocers.

He asked the same set of questions about Mrs. Zackert, and obtained additional information concerning the places at which Mrs. Zackert traded, the grocery and butcher shop she patronized. Then he left.

Mrs. Zackert returned home at 4 p. m. In her bedroom she found terrible confusion. The carpet was torn up, the bed clothes were on the floor, the mattress had been ripped open and the contents of a bureau scattered over the room.

Among the missing articles are a watch, a ring, a diamond brooch, several stickpins and other jewelry. The burglar had found the $10 hidden in the bed.

Robbed on Broadway.

On crowded Broadway in daylight Mrs. Edith Baker of 909 Brooklyn street, was robbed of her purse, containing $18, a ring and other jewelry, while she was talking to a fashionably gowned woman who worked in conjunction with the purse-snatcher. The theft occurred at the entrance to a store near Lucas avenue.

Mrs. Baker screamed, and a throng of men and women gathered around her. The woman ran south on Broadway to Lucas avenue, where she jumped aboard a moving southbound Broadway car. The man, pursued by scores of pedestrians and two policemen, ran north to Wash street, where he jumped aboard a northbound Broadway car and escaped.

Mrs. Baker gave an accurate description of both. The woman, she said, wore diamonds and was of prepossessing appearance.

Mrs. Baker, leaving the store where she had been shopping, met at the door the well-dressed stranger, who asked her what time it was, commented on the weather, and kept up a constant flow of small talk. Mrs. Baker suspected nothing, and answered her question absently. Her mind, she says, was on other things.

After a few minutes a well-dressed man rushed up to the two women and snatched the purse from Mrs. Baker's hand. She joined in the unsuccessful pursuit which followed.

Lemps Want New York Cafe.

The Lemp Brewing Co. has opened negotiations which may result in securing the Cafe Savarin and the Lawyers' Club, in New York, both owned by the Equitable Life Assurance Association, according to news dispatches. P. T. Wall of New York is representing the Lemps, and has made application to Paul Morton, president of the association, for the cafe and club.

SCHIRMER TO WAR ON "SHORT" BEERS

Prospective Inspector Promises to Tolerate Only Schooners.

TO STAMP HUMAN KEGS

Will Visit Saloons All Day and "Lid" Clubs on Sundays.

"In the language of Chief Kiely, 'I have not yet been officially notified,'" said Emil Schirmer, the rotund and good-natured police reporter of the Abend Anzeiger, when asked to confirm the report that Gov. Folk has tendered him the position of chief deputy State beer inspector.

"I suppose the report is true," said Mr. Schirmer, "for in my 15 years' experience as a Four Courts newsgatherer, I have come to believe that everything in the newspapers is true.

"What will be my policy in office? Well, that is a question that I would rather not answer at present.

"Mr. Jones, the new Police Commissioner, will not say what he is going to do to the police force because he has not been officially notified. Mr. Blong, the ousted Police Commissioner, will not say what he is going to do to the Governor, because he has not been 'officially notified.' So how can I say what I am going to do to the beer business when I have not been 'officially notified?'

"What are the duties of a deputy beer inspector? Oh, you make me blush. It's a shame to ask. Beer inspector, beer inspector. Can't you see what the duties are? You don't think the beer inspector has to put in his time inspecting cheese, do you?

Give Us a Drink, Bartender.

"For instance, I walk into a saloon. I order a glass of beer. I drink the beer. Then I walk behind the bar and look at the keg. The saloon keeper says, 'Who are you?' I say, 'I'm the beer inspector.' Then the saloon keeper apologizes and sets 'em up.

"Of course there is other work to be done, but that is of minor importance. The main thing is to let the saloon men know that the beer inspector is on deck, so that they will keep their beer up to the proper standard.

"What do you think of the suggestion made by the brewers that Indians be allowed to drink beer to keep them from becoming drunkards?" Mr. Schirmer was asked.

"I am in favor of that suggestion," he replied. "Beer makes good citizens of Indians. Why, up in the Fourth Ward the Indians do more work on election day after they're full of beer than all the citizens in all the rest of the wards put together. Ask Tom Kimey.

"Any man who ever ran for public office will tell you that one keg of beer will poll a larger Indian vote than a thousand tons of coal or ten thousand suits of clothes. The brewers are right. Give the Indians all the beer they can drink, and watch the results on election day.

No More "Short" Beers.

"If I ever become deputy beer inspector I will inaugurate a reform in the size of beers. The 'short beer' evil will have to be done away with. Nothing but schooners will go during my administration.

"As inspector I will have the right to demand to see the stamp on every keg of beer, and if I see any man walking the streets with as much as a keg of beer in his system I'll make him wear a revenue stamp on his vest.

"I am going to devote my whole time to the work of my office, no matter how much I may dislike it. I'll even spend my Sundays in pursuit of my duties. The 'lid' clubs will demand that.

"There being 2400 saloons in St. Louis I will have my hands full—and perhaps more than my hands will be full, but I will do my duty."

MARRIAGE TOO EASY.

Judge Sale Condemns Justice of Peace Ceremonies.

Five out of seven divorce plaintiffs who appeared in Judge Sale's court Wednesday, when asked by the court who performed their wedding ceremony, replied that they had been married by justices of the peace.

After Judge Sale had granted twelve decrees of divorce, he was asked why he had put this question. He replied: "I am of the opinion that marriage ceremonies are too easy these days. If I had my way we would revert to the old rule of having the banns published before the wedding. It's too easy a matter nowadays to pay a Justice a dollar, then run to the divorce courts and have the marriage undone.

"I am reminded of the story in Tennyson's 'Princess,' where the young prince was made to do all manner of hard labor before the father of the girl of his choice would give his consent to his daughter's marriage.

"The daughter protested at seeing the prince compelled to work so hard, but the father was right, for he was able to see whether or not the young nobleman was worthy of his daughter.

"If our young women would take the same care, or if their parents would take the precaution for them, and not run to the nearest justice of the peace and be married in a hurry, there would be a startling decrease in our divorce dockets, and the city and state would be benefited."

Twelve decrees of divorce were granted by Judge Sale by default Wednesday: Marie from Guido Parisi, Marie from Frank Pinkard, Della F. from Charles F. Kindel, Francis from Oscar F. Grimes, Susie from Percy Wilbur Hatfield, Mary M. from James M. Ferguson from Thomas E. Mitchell, F. W. from Rose E. Schneider, Clara from Edward Fishbeck, David from Katie Fahndrich, Anna from Bernard Krampe and Alvin from Lulu Robinson.

BANK OFFICIAL TRACED ST. LOUIS

Vice President Suspended Kentucky Treasury Said to Be Hiding Here.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

OWINGSVILLE, Ky., Nov. 23.—After seeing the Lenora National Bank of Morehead, Rowan County, 24 miles from here, suspend payment, L. P. Morgan, vice-president of the bank, disappeared. He was traced to St. Louis, where he is believed to be hiding. Warrants have been issued for his arrest by Wheeler & Holden Lumber Co., from whom it is claimed he fraudulently secured $350. Other serious charges are made against him. He was beside being vice-president of the bank, president of Winton Lumber and Manufacturing Co.

It is alleged that he loaned his company $18,000 of the bank's money. When the note became due the money was not available. Appeals were made to banks in Owingsville and other towns for $10,000, but to no avail, and the bank suspended last Thursday night.

Morgan at once announced that he would move the offices of the lumber company from Morehead to Ashland, and boarded a train. Later search was made for him in Ashland, where it was learned he had gone to St. Louis.

Morgan came to Kentucky one year ago from Buffalo, N. Y., where he belonged to a wealthy family. Several other Kentucky banks and one New Albany, Ind., bank were hurt by Morgan's departure.

Officials from Washington have taken charge of the Morehead Bank.

Peirce City, Mo., Farmer Killed

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PEIRCE CITY, Mo., Nov. 23.—Felix M. Pruitt, a prominent farmer of this county, was accidentally killed last night on the road home from attending court at Mount Vernon, the county seat. A revolver he was carrying was accidentally discharged. Pruitt leaves a wife and two children.

DOCTOR'S REMARK ESTRANGED FIANCE

Young Woman Suing for Slander Tells of Broken Engagement.

Miss May Stock, testifying in her $10,000 damage suit against Dr. Walter P. Eidmann of 3160 Morganford road, charging slander, told in Circuit Court Thursday of the statements which she said were made by Dr. Eidmann and of the alleged results of the statements.

She said that April 10, 1904, when she was engaged to marry William C. Fritsche, a clerk in the office of the Scudder-Gale Grocery Co., Dr. Eidmann told Fritsche that she had been a mother 10 years before. Fritsche immediately came to her and repeated the statement. She went to Dr. Eidmann, she said, and when he admitted making the statement, asked him his authority for it. This, she said, he refused to give. Soon afterward her engagement to Fritsche was broken, she said.

In his answer to the petition, filed some time ago, Dr. Eidmann set out his long friendship for Fritsche and admitting that he made the statement, said he did so in good faith, without malice, though on the authority of other parties. He named the persons who told him to Fritsche, he said. It was his moral duty to tell, he said, and he was privileged in law to do so.

Maplewood Church Dedication.

The dedicatory exercises of the new Catholic Church of the Immaculate Conception in Maplewood will be conducted Sunday by Archbishop Glennon. The parish is newly organized, with Rev. D. W. Clark as pastor. The church cost $18,000, and contains six school rooms for children of the parish and a gymnasium in the basement. In accordance with canonical custom it faces the east. After the dedication solemn high mass will be sung, with Rev. E. A. Bolger as celebrant.

PUSHES OVER ORGANIST

Hats Knocked Off in Dispute Over Indiana Church Site.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 23.—Bitter rivalry has broken out among the members of the congregation of the Quaker Church at Amboy, over the selection of a site for a new house of worship, and the trouble has reached a point where bloodshed is feared. One faction is in favor of building the church on the north edge of town and the other at a point in the center of the place.

As a result there has been a strong feeling existing for some time, and last Sunday a climax was reached when a member of the congregation took absolute possession of the church, making it necessary to dismiss the congregation.

During the service Sunday the Rev. Mr. McKinley, pastor of the church, announced that the building committee decided to erect the building on the downtown lot. The announcement so enraged Mrs. George Yoars, wife of a prominent business man of that place, that she jumped from her seat and rushing up to the minister pulled him out of the pulpit, saying that "The devil had been there long enough."

She then seized Miss Laura Melton, the organist, and pushed her away from the organ, telling her she could no longer officiate. At this juncture she was joined by her husband who assisted in the melee. The two walked to and fro along the aisles and after knocking the hats off several women's heads they attacked Mrs. Lamb, an aged attendant, and forced her to sit in another part of the church.

The pastor prevented further hostilities by hastily dismissing the congregation.

"CHASE HOUSE" SOLD.

Louis Frank Buys South Broadway Landmark.

A sale was closed Wednesday by the Henry Hiemenz Realty Co. to Louis Frank of the old homestead of the late Edward Chase, for many years manager of the St. Louis Clearing House. The place is one of the famous landmarks of St. Louis.

The "Chase House" stands on the river bluffs, midway between the Courthouse and the southern city limits. The property fronting 200 feet on the east side of Broadway, near Itaska street, and extending 500 feet eastwardly to a perpendicular rock cliff that overlooks the Iron Mountain Railway, with a splendid view across the river front and the Illinois side. It is an extremely picturesque place and will be occupied by Mr. Frank as his family home. It belonged to the Chase heirs.

If the high tariff is "depopulating New England" it is her own medicine at which she is making faces.

The Wabash has played a trump card at the right time. Now for the highest trump—the abolition of the arbitrary.

Farther and farther, higher and higher rolls the moral wave. The House of Delegates has voted down a junket.

POLICE REFORM.

In the matter of police reform for St. Louis, Gov. Folk has at last turned from glittering generalities to specific action. The summary removal of Andrew F. Blong was a long-delayed but effective step in the right direction. It is hoped that the new appointee, Mr. George P. Jones, will prove the right man for the place.

The Governor accompanied this change of police commissioners with an emphatic declaration of his views with regard to the reorganization and reform of police management. He indorsed the Post-Dispatch's demand for publicity in the trials of police officers. On this subject he said:

"In my opinion the trials before the Police Board should be public. Publicity is the greatest security the people have that their officials are acting properly and is the most powerful factor in obtaining good service."

Pledging himself to do all in his power to see that the department is brought up to the highest plane of public service and that all abuses are stopped, the Governor laid down for his reorganized board, the majority of which is in harmony with his administration, a sound policy of reform. Placing the responsibility for the management of the police upon the board, he said that while he believed that the police force contained good men, that he was satisfied there was room for vast improvement. "I want the commissioners," he said, "to thoroughly investigate the department, weed out the incompetent men and eliminate every species of wrong and graft if it exists."

This is a sufficient basis for a comprehensive and effective scheme of reform. The Governor has told his appointees what he expects and has practically assured the people of St. Louis that if the board does not come up to the measure of his expectations he will remove the unsatisfactory commissioners if he has the power to do so.

As to the power of summary removal for causes sufficient in his own mind, Gov. Folk's own opinion that he possesses this power is supported by the opinions of Judge Williams and of Attorney-General Hadley. If the Governor has not the power to organize the Police Board in harmony with his administration, he cannot, of course, be held responsible for the failure of a board which is not of his choice.

Mr. Blong has said that he will contest the right of the Governor to remove him. Mr. Blong can take advantage of every legal technicality to cling to an office in which he is not wanted by the Governor and for which he has signally failed to prove his fitness. When he resists the attempt of the Governor to reorganize the board on a basis of fitness and harmony with the administration, he thrusts aside all considerations of public policy and endeavors to make himself an obstacle to the public service for which the office he seeks to retain was created. Forfeiting the principal compensation, which is the consciousness of public service and public esteem, he gains a pecuniary visible reward in the petty stipend, which is wholly inadequate to the sacrifice.

But regardless of what Mr. Blong may try to do, the work of police reform must go on.

Have you reason for thanks giving that can be measured in dollars and cents? It is an undoubted fact that the cost of living has advanced, but how much and how is it with wages? The Sunday Post-Dispatch has compiled with great care an extraordinary exhibit of prices and comparisons which will answer the question at the beginning of this paragraph. Remember to look for these facts in your paper next Sunday.

MATHEMATICS AND GAMBLING.

Prof. Woodward's mathematical demonstration that gambling (he speaks specially of dice rolling) is unprofitable as a business, will convince everybody who does not need conviction. (Let it be said by way of explanation that this is not a pun.)

"In any game in which a player bets against a banker who has carefully calculated the chances," says Prof. Woodward, "the player will get the experience and the banker the money, even though on the surface the chances of each appear equal."

Every man who has played has the riches of experience and knows that this is true. But there is no persuasive force in the differential and integral calculus. The gambler doesn't know what that is. He associates it in a vague way with professors and adding machines and other facts to him mysterious, passing all understanding. The one fact he does understand is that he is "broke." And he looks forward eagerly to an opportunity to "go broke" again in the same agreeable fashion.

The way to suppress gambling is, not by an appeal to the calculus or experience, but by applying the butt end of the law. Jerome, in New York, used an ax, which, in hands authorized to swing it, is the same thing. Even a gambler knows that what was done in New York can be done in St. Louis by any man who has the will to do it.

Horatius and his two companions holding the bridge against the invaders of Rome were not in it with Thomaso Spurius McPheeters, with his trumpeter, the Republic, defending the bridge combine against all the citizens of St. Louis.

MR. ROOSEVELT'S SENSITIVE NATURE

Walter S. Elvidge, late chauffeur in the service of the Bureau of Weights and Measures in Washington, is to be reinstated.

One day Elvidge, driving his automobile, met a carriage drawn by a fine span of horses. Puzzled by frantic signals from two wheelmen who accompanied the carriage, he stopped and blocked the way. When he learned that the signals meant that it was the President's carriage, he immediately turned out to the right, as he was doing when stopped by the officious wheelmen. Mr. Roosevelt was very angry and ordered the chauffeur discharged at once.

Now he is to be reinstated as a matter of grace and favor, not of right, although he was not at all to blame.

The other day Mr. Henry M. Whitney of Massachusetts was told by the President that he had wilfully misrepresented what he (the President) had said. That is, in plain English, Mr. Whitney lied. Nor would the President permit Mr. Whitney to explain.

Neither Elvidge nor Whitney could defend himself. Any citizen is at a disadvantage when attacked by the President of the United States. He cannot strike back.

In view of this, it is unfortunate that Mr. Roosevelt is so susceptible and sensitive, personally. A man big enough to be President ought to be big enough to ignore personal affronts. And he ought not to be so sharp-sighted that he can see disrespect across the distance which lies between a poor chauffeur and the Chief Magistrate of the nation.

However, the chauffeur is reinstated, and for this he is no doubt grateful. But it is a pity that it is done as an act of mercy and not of justice.

Young Mr. Roosevelt's nose was broken in a boxing bout, and not in his recent football experiences. There is evidently some prejudice against football. It doesn't do all the maiming and mangling.

THE PLEA IS TRANSPARENT.

The plea on which it is sought to remove the women stenographers at the City Hall is so clear that it is transparent.

It is that men "who have families to support and who can do the work just as well as the women, should have the jobs."

Why is a family supported by a man more worthy of a place in the great-hearted solicitude of the members of the House of Delegates than a family supported by a woman?

Like all good rules, this one works both ways. And the only alternative is to believe that men must have some qualification for these public offices not possessed by women.

What is it? Is it that they are better politicians than women? Is it because they can get out and hustle when the boss wants to "pull off" an election?

Of five days' deaths in St. Louis this month, seven were of persons more than 80 years of age. This longevity record could be greatly improved upon, however.

The House of Refuge is now the St. Louis Industrial School. The new name has a busier sound, with no objectionable associations.

It remains to be seen whether Congress will catch on to the Presidential idea of a square deal.

Stay in the middle of the road and scan the space under the billboards for criminal legs.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

PROTECTION FOR EMPLOYES.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

In the Post-Dispatch, Mr. Eustace C. Wheeler calls attention to the fact that honest, hard-working women and girls are easily victimized out of their wages by unscrupulous employers. Many young girls, after being thus robbed and thrown out of work, become desperate and go swiftly the downward road. The Post-Dispatch, in giving this publicity, opened the way for a movement toward the righting of evil.

Public-spirited citizens should lose no time in forming a protective organization like they have in New York to fight the battles of these poor working women and young girls against shameless robber employers. EMMA F. HENRY.

LET THE PEOPLE WAKE UP.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Mr. Willis E. Parker's letter in the 'Post-Dispatch of recent date is plain and to the point. He may in some way be connected with the street-car service; should that be the fact, then it seems that it is high time for the people to wake up and look to their own safety. The devising of a safeguard on the rear end of street cars unquestionably is a good one, and should receive encouragement. R. U. ON.

GIVE ALL EMPLOYMENT.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

If St. Louis will get rid of the bridge nuisance, and put all idle capital into good manufacturing enterprises, there would soon be a million inhabitants. The way to get and hold population is to furnish good employment.

Idle capital and idle labor could report to the B. M. A., and parties well skilled in manufacturing could go there and learn where to get capital to start to manufacturing.

St. Louis has the capital, and the finest location, so all that is needed is an organized effort. All cities should take such steps. J. M. GOAD.

A SUBURBANITE'S COMPLAINT.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Will you allow me to call you attention to the very unsatisfactory service given by the Meramec Highlands electric car—Suburban company. The suburban people are surely very patient and long-suffering to endure the discomforts they have to every day. It is not so much the internal conditions of the cars as the insufficiency of cars to convey the people and the distance they run apart. It is very rarely you can secure a seat at the time you board the car. You may, perchance, get a seat before getting home, but most times one has to stand all the way.

For all this miserable accommodation one often has to wait on the corner of a street on a raw, cold day all the way from 15 to 45 minutes, as I had last Saturday evening for a car, which only carried me to the loop at Sutton Station, where I had another long wait in the cold for a through car, the time occupied on this homebound trip, including the waiting for cars, being one hour and 50 minutes. Cannot the city authorities of St. Louis, Webster or Kirkwood take some action to protect the people from such treatment. A TUXEDO SUBURBANITE.

THE JOYS OF A SCIENTIST'S LIFE.

Effects of Dr. Woodward's Lecture on Post-Dispatch Cartoonist Knott.

"Dice-Rolling" was the subject of an address made Monday evening by Calvin M. Woodward of Washington University to the Academy of Science. Prof. Woodward demonstrated mathematically that with three dice the chances of throwing one of the eight numbers from 5 to 12 inclusive, were five to one. "I have tested these results by an actual manipulation of the dice as is done in play, and the mathematical results are borne out by the practical results," said Prof. Woodward.

WHAT ARE A HUSBAND'S DUTIES?

Outlined for the Post-Dispatch

By Nixola Greeley-Smith.

NIXOLA GREELEY-SMITH

A LONG-SUFFERING woman reader complains to me that writers are eternally preaching to women on the duties of wives and their shortcomings. "Why don't we hear something of the duties of husbands?" she asks, "or have they none; or are all men so perfect that they never need to be scolded?"

No, my dear madam, no, indeed. But I judge from the plaintive tone of your communication that you are a wife yourself. And tell me honestly, now, has scolding him ever done any good?

Ponder deeply the duties of a wife best expounded to us in that delicious bit of Shakspearean satire that men will persist in taking seriously:

"Thy husband is they lord, thy life, thy keeper, thy head, thy sovereign; one that cares for thee, and for thy maintenance commits his body to painful labor, both by sea and land, to watch the night in storms, the day in cold, while thou liest warm at home, secure and safe."

Why is it satire? Because every one of the men whose wives the Tamed Shrew Katharine thus charges married for money and couldn't possibly expose himself to any graver danger than collecting his wife's income. Petruchio doesn't love Katharine till he has had a determining little confab with her father as to settlements. Hortensio calmly announces his intention of wedding "a wealthy widow which long hath loved me." Julia Marlowe is the only actress I ever saw who seems to render this speech in the spirit of good-natured jibing of the subtle shrewdness of a new Katharine which I have always thought belongs to it. But here I am, going on about the duties of wives, when I have been asked to write about the husband's duty. But, frankly, I do not know how to handle the subject.

But there must be among my readers a great many women better qualified to discuss this subject, and I would be very glad to have them write to me and tell me what an ideal husband should be.

PITY THE POOR SALOON KEEPER.

At Cairo, Ill., where an endeavor is being made to raise the annual saloon license from $500 to $1000, the saloon keepers are protesting vigorously on the ground that they own "a large per cent of the property of the city," and therefore have to pay heavy taxes, aside from the proposed $1000 liquor license.

This raises speculation concerning the matter of property and taxes in Cairo. Had the saloon patrons invested as much money in houses and lots as they did in liquor, would not, they, instead of the saloon keepers, now own "a large per cent of the property of the city," and would not they, instead of the saloon keepers, be called upon to pay the taxes?

And may it not be that "hard times," of which saloon keepers complain, is due to the fact that the former patrons have decided on a change of program?

No, wonder Cairo saloon keepers "view with alarm."

AMBITION.

I would not want a million plunks,
'Twould burden me, I know,
I'm sure that I would be content
With six nines in a row.
Or, maybe eights or anything
So long as there are six
With a little dollar mark in front
Their worth in coin to fix.

Don't tell me that the dollar mark
Is crooked as can be;
It has redeeming features
As plainly you can see.
One line of it is crooked.
But the other two are straight;
It's a handy thing to have around
When you are paying freight.

HOW TO BE BEAUTIFUL

Answers to Post-Dispatch Readers' Questions

By Margaret Hubbard Ayer.

MARGARET HUBBARD AYER.

For the Hair.

N. Y.—Here is a good shampoo. Following that is a tonic which will stimulate the growth and leave the hair soft: Yolk of 1 egg, 1 pint of rainwater (hot), 1 ounce of rosemary spirits.

Beat the mixture thoroughly up and use it warm, rubbing it well into the skin of the head. Rinse in several waters.

For the tonic take hydrochlorate of pilocarpine, 6 grains; tincture of jaborondi, 4 drams; spirit of rosemary, 2 drams; yellow vaseline, 4 ounces; alcohol, 4 ounces.

It must be applied to the scalp every night. Rub it in thoroughly.

Prominent Eyeballs.

Mabel.—You no doubt are troubled with astigmatism, and should consult an oculist.

For Eczema.

J. C.—Yes, wrong diet in some cases causes eczema. It is caused sometimes by eating shellfish, such as oysters, clams, lobsters and crabs. There are so many kinds of eczema it is difficult for me to prescribe, but it is safe to say that one should abstain as much as possible from greasy food, or, in fact, anything spicy and rich. Without knowing more of your trouble I can suggest only in a general way. The following ointment is helpful: Salicylic acid, 1 gram; oxide of zinc, 0-24; powdered starch, 0-24; lanolin, 30 grams; vaseline, 10 grams.

A Red Shade for Hair.

P. A.—If you wish to make the red shade try this paste: Acetic acid, 4 drams; powdered henna leaves, ¼ pound; white honey, 4 drams; powdered rhubarb, 4 drams; add water enough to form a paste. This paste is applied to the hair, which has been previously thoroughly washed. The ends of long hair are fastened in braids around the head and the hair is thoroughly covered with the paste, which is left on until it dries. The henna is then washed off with water which has been softened with a little ammonia. The operator would do well to wear gloves when applying the paste, otherwise it will stain the hands. The longer it is left on the redder the hair will become. Fifteen minutes will give a very perceptible change of color. In regard to the expression of the eyes, you can soften it by darkening the eyelashes, using the kohol on the eyelids, but the effect is likely to be very artificial.

For Chapped Faces.

Miss J.—Where the neck and face have become tanned and burned through exposure to the sun and wind each night wash with warm water and paste soap, in order to remove all the dust and dirt from the pores. Then use a strong solution of soda in order to banish all oil from the surface of the skin. A paste is now made from refining powder and equal parts of witch hazel and peroxide. This is spread on the skin and allowed to remain until it is perfectly dry. The crust may then be removed by washing with distilled water. A whitening cream is then applied and should be well massaged into the skin. In the morning wash with clear, cold water, and apply the lotion.

A Good Hair Grower.

John A.—The tonic I give you is a good stimulant to growth if the circulation of the skin of the scalp is active. If not, massage of the scalp will be necessary. Quinine Hair Tonic.—Sulphate of quinine, 1 dram; rosewater, 8 ounces; dilute sulphuric acid, 15 minims; rectified spirits, 2 ounces; mix, then further add glycerine, ¼ ounce; essence royale or essence musk, 5 or 6 minims. Agitate until solution is complete. Apply to the roots every day.

To Restore the Color of the Hair.

A. B. C.—Here is the recipe you ask for: Sugar lead, ½ ounce; lac sulphur, ½ ounce; essence of bergamot, ½ ounce; alcohol, ½ gill; glycerine, 3 ounces; tincture of cantharides, ½ ounce; ammonia, ½ ounce. Mix all in one pint of soft water. Apply to the roots of the hair, which must be clean.

Skin Food.

L. M. Y.—The skin food for which you have asked may be made from 4 ounces of sweet almond oil, 2 ounces of spermacetti, 1 ounce of white wax, 2 ounces of glycerine, 1 dram of powdered borax, 2 ounces of rosewater and 10 drops of oil of rose. Melt the oils together, dissolve the borax in the rosewater and glycerine. Add the other ingredients, beating constantly until cold. Perfume last of all.

Massage Cream.

B. G.—A cream is most necessary in massage, as without it the skin is apt to become bruised and irritated. For this reason you will find it necessary to use something of this kind. The kind of cream used will, of course, depend entirely upon the condition of the skin. The creme celeste is excellent for general massage. The skin should always be carefully cleansed before applying any sort of a cream. Warm water and a mild soap are used, as in this way the pores are opened and the skin is in a much more receptive condition.

THE OFFICE BOY

He Wants to Know the Cure of a Broken Heart.

Typewritten for the Post-Dispatch

By Harrison Clark.

"WHAT'S good for being in love?" asked Sammie, the office boy.

"What the—— Say," demanded Eddie, the other office boy, in an injured tone; "a kid like you"——

"Aw, it ain't me," sneered Sammie. "I got wise to that kind of foolishness a long while ago. It's the Head Bookkeeper, and he's got it so bad it hurts the whole family.

"It started 'way back in the summer, on a steamboat excursion to Alton. He had taken me along; for he was a good fellow—then. And I was the star pitcher on a big team until the Fairy floated in. Then it was me to the bench—just to look on while the Head Bookkeeper tried to buy out the ice cream and candy men. Say! It certainly would jolt you to see how that Fairy could hide the sweet stuff—and she just a little bit of a trick with yellow hair and some dimples and a blue sash!

"Before the boat got back she had the Head Bookkeeper plumb bughouse. He was talking goo-goo and trying to quote poetry, and spieling about the moon and stars and the queer way Fate had of bringing two souls together, even if they lived as far apart as Belleville and Maplewood. And she—why, she was hanging to him and looking up into his face, and sighing. Ain't it funny how quick a man will go straight up if a girl will just blow a little hot air at him?

"The Head Bookkeeper was a regular mutt from that night. He would look out of the window and chew the end of his pencil and clip poetry out of the paper and cut out the billiard game with the Boss. The only time he got real busy was when he'd snuggle up to the telephone about half a dozen times a day and talk soft and grin and say 'really I do,' and 'O, but I mean everyword,' and—— Say, but he was the gushy guzabo! And all this time the Fairy had him thinking diamonds weren't anything but plateglass when he was around, and the rest of the world was a sort of bum lottery ticket after the drawing.

"Then something happened. A fat, pawed-off druggist who has an automobile butted in. He saw the Fairy when she bought some complexion, and went daffy; and when he buzzed up with his ski-doodler she was all his and it was '23' for the Head Bookkeeper. He'd call up as usual, but the 'b-z' signal was all he could get; and one day the Fairy's kid brother came in with his notes and letters tied up in blue ribbons. He took it pretty hard, and got to writing poetry. Here's one of his poems—I found it in the wastebasket:

"'O, faithless fair one, who would have thought
When summer's moon was lis'ning to thy vows
That ere the snows the city's roofs had caught
You'd throw me down for'——

"It stops there, and then come a lot of words like 'brows' and 'rows' and 'allows' and 'boughs.' The Boss said he was trying to find a rhyme for 'vows,' but I don't know. What I do know is that he's all tore up. The Boss joshes him about it and says there's just as good fish in the sea as was ever caught."

"What does the Head Bookkeeper say to that?" asked Eddie.

"Oh," said Sammy, "he gets red in the face and says, 'Yes, I know; but the sea is a big place, and besides'—I guess he was thinking of the ice cream and candy and theater tickets which didn't come back with his notes—'and besides, bait costs too much.'"

ANSWERS TO POST-DISPATCH READERS

RULES—One question; one initial. No business addresses given. No bets. Only simple legal questions. Address "Answers," Post-Dispatch; postal cards if convenient.

SMITH.—Empress Carlotta lives, insane.

B.—Law does not mention ammonia gun.

A. B. C.—Write Exposition Pub. Co., city.

COOK.—Hunting license good in any county.

CURIOUS.—Ohio marriage license useless here.

W. H.—Coal-Oil Johnnie is on Sugar Creek, Pa.

CONSTANT.—Second wedding anniversary, paper.

YOUNGMAN.—Have a talk with the Dean of Barnes College.

O.—First wife of John Uri Lloyd, Adeline Meader; second, Emma Rouse.

B.—An ad valorem tariff duty is placed according to the value of the goods.

LAUB.—Altitude of Cheyenne, 6088 feet; Denver, 5272; Colorado Springs, 6098.

TAXPAYER.—Church property pays for improvement of streets, alleys and sidewalks.

D. BORE.—Try any of the comic publications you see in book stores and on news stands.

P. W.—An American embezzler can be arrested in England and brought back to this country.

RATS.—Heel burnisher in union shoe factory does piece work, chiefly; makes about $12 a week.

T. BROS.—Any granite up to sample has been accepted for St. Louis streets. We do not know whether Georgia granite has been used.

STRAUSS.—The Secretary of the Treasury may distribute $20,000,000 to various national banks under the depositary law enacted by Congress.

C. C.—Make caramel cake same as layer cake. Filling: Cup of cream and cup of brown sugar; boil until they thicken to the right consistency.

C. H. B.—As $2.10 in Colombian silver equals an American dollar, an ordinary laborer on the Panama Canal receives $4.20 a week, American money.

J. E.—We know of no one who is teaching law without pay. The head of the law office in which you are employed could tell you what to read.

C. C.—Rose extract, or sachet, will give you the rose-jar odor you want. Cover tightly, and when you wish the odor to fill the room, take off the lid.

C. C.—Criminals are not protected by enlistment in army or navy. If you were not benefited in any way by buying a ticket for the boy who stole the money you are not likely to be punished.

R. P.—To obtain a position in the public school kindergarten one must be a graduate of the Kindergarten Training Department of the Public Schools. Salaries range from $34 to $67.50.

INNOCENT.—At Penitentiary a candle light is allowed up to a certain hour. No lights are allowed in the cells of the Workhouse, but several lights are hung in the hallway and the light shines in several cells close by. By standing against the door, one might read, but it is very difficult.

TOM.—For the removal of facial hair: Bari sulphide, 2 ounces; oxide of zinc, 1 ounce; starch (pure), 4 ounces. Mix and pass through a sieve, pour the powder on a saucer, about a thimbleful, add a little water, enough to make a thick paste. Spread on the skin with a flat toothpick over the growth of hair. Allow the paste to dry three to five minutes, then remove by washing.—Medical Brief.

E. E.—Chinese eyelash stain: Gum arabic, 1 dram; India ink, ½ dram; rosewater, 4 ounces. Powder the ink and gum and triturate small quantities of the powder with the rosewater until you get a uniform black liquid, and add the remainder of the rosewater to it. It should be applied with a very fine camel's hair brush.

A POINT OF LAW

By Bernard Capes,
Author of "A Castle in Spain," etc.

GIVEN a wet night on circuit, a bar parlor with a chattering fire, a box of tobacco and a china bowl of punch, a mixed forensic company, and what are the chances of a good story or two? Odds against, one would lay pretty confidently, groping in one's memory among legal collectanea and the newspaper reports of trials. Lord! how these old and young grooms of the horsehair crack their ineffable chestnuts for the benefit of an obsequious gallery!

The lawyer typified is, I believe, a dull fellow. When he has grasped the single principle that all law is a syllogism, he has equipped himself handsomely for any case. As witness: I call a man a beast; a cheetah is a beast; I have called the man a cheater; ergo he can proceed against me for defamation. It is a beautifully simple principle in the abstract, and needs only a little engineering to make it concrete.

It was in the Maid's Head at Norwich, and my experience was a very object lesson in legal limitations. It had, I know, been a full list and varied; yet the great man, it seemed, had found nothing on which to whet his wit. The liveliness was all supplied by a pert deputy clerk of the peace, whose bump of reverence, it was evident, was, paradoxically, nothing less than depressed, the only part of him that was. The bar began by tolerating him, went on to humor his self-assertiveness, chilled presently over his presumption, grew patronizing, impatient and at last rude. He didn't care, nor I, certainly. His readiness came to salve my disappointment in the others. Is it not a little wonderful that the barrister, who, like the actor, plays many parts, should take himself so seriously?

The talk drifted in the course of the evening upon legal posers. This was the occasion of the sinister historical toast to the "best friend of the profession—the man who makes his own will." That was good, but horribly significant of the law's confounding of probate with probity.

"I will give you a better," said Brindley. "The Deputy Clerk of the Peace."

He spoke a ponderous sarcasm, and everybody laughed—all but the Deputy Clerk, whose retort was, I think, rather deft:

"If the law is my friend, who shall defend me from it?"

He was very cool, and left his company to excogitate his conundrum while he filled his pipe afresh. Then said he: "As we are on the question of posers, gentlemen, let me put one to you: "If I make my escape from a bore, am I guilty of stealing from the person?"

"Pooh," said Brindley, flushing up. "This is mere flippancy."

"Well, then," said the unruffled Deputy Clerk, "if one is imprisoned unjustly, that is to say, for a crime one has not committed, and breaking out of prison, vindicates one's innocence, can one be indicted for prison-breaking?"

"Perhaps," said Brindley, sarcastically, "the gentleman will state a case."

The gentleman desired nothing better. I would have backed him to illustrate his own text anyhow; but I delighted to think, by something in his manner, that in this instance he had a real story to tell. And he had.

"Gentlemen," he said; "it occurred within my father's memory; and my own is good enough to pass it on literally. It made a rare stir in the Norwich of his day, and set the contemporary bigwigs tugging at one another's horsehair like your honors just now."

He waited for the angry simmer to subside; then went on, even-toned, in his deliberate, rather nasal voice:

"The parties most concerned in it were three—old Nicholas Browbody, his ward, Nancy, and Mr. George Hussey, who was put on his trial for burglary and murder. He, Mr. George, was a notable cracksman in his day, the comparativeness remoteness of which may be gauged from the fact that he was 'housebreaker' in the indictment, that he was arrested by the Tombland patrol and that he was carried to court in a 'chair,' attended by a party of the City Guard.

"He was an elegant figure of a man I believe, and not at all regardless of the mode. Dark blue coat, with brass buttons, fancy vest, black satin breeches, white silk stockings, hair full dress and a brooch in his bosom—that was how he appeared before his judges.

"The facts were simple enough. On a night of November, a shot and a screech had been heard in Mr. Browbody's house in Unthank, an entrance had been made, through a window opportunely open, by the watch, as opportunely handy, and the housebreaker had been discovered, a warm pistol in his hand, standing over the body of old Nicholas, who lay dead with his head blown in. The criminal stood as if stupefied; the room was the master's study; its door into the passage was open, and outside was discovered the body of a girl, ward Nancy, lying in a dead faint. There's the situation, dashed in broad; and pretty complete for circumstantial evidence, you'll agree; and"—

"Wait, my friend," began Brindley, putting up a fat, insolent hand, with a smile in his half-closed eyes. "Circumstantial, you"—

"Yes, I say it," interrupted the Deputy Clerk; "and if you'll listen you'll understand—perhaps. The girl was in a faint, and she never came out of it for seven months."

He leant back, thumbing the ashes into his pipe, and took no heed while the murmurs of incredulity buzzed and died down.

"Not for seven months," he repeated. "They called it a cataleptic trance, induced by fright and shock upon witnessing the deed, and they postponed the trial, waiting for this material witness to recover, till the doctors certified they could put no period to a condition, which might, after all, end fatally without real consciousness ever being regained. Then Mr. Hussey was tried and condemned to be hanged."

"What, without a defense?" said a Junior, contemptuously.

"Well, sir, can you suggest one?" asked the Clerk, civilly.

"Suicide," said the Junior, looking around with a grin.

"With the pistol there in the burglar's own hand?"

"Accident, then."

"Do you really think that would wash?"

"Well, he made none, you say."

"No, I don't He said it was ridiculous attempting one without his essential witness; that the lady would vindicate him if she could.

"Oh, of course!"

"Yes, of course; and of course you say it. But he spoke the truth, sir, for all that, as you will see.

"He was lodged in Norwich Gaol, Jack Ketch's perquisite; but, before the hangman could get him—that time, at least—he managed to break out, damaging a warder, by the way. The dogs of law were let loose at once, naturally; but while they were in full cry, Mr. Hussey, if you'll believe me, walks into a local attorney's office with Miss Nancy on his arm."

Brindley turned in his chair, and gave a little impatient, expostulatory laugh.

"Incredible, ain't it?" said the Deputy Clerk. "But listen now, to the affidavits of the pair, and judge for yourselves. We'll take Miss Nancy's first, plain as I can make it in the recital:

"'I confess,' says she, 'to a romantic attachment to this picturesque outcast of society. He, Hussey, came my way—never mind how—and I fell in love with him. He made an assignation to visit me in my guardian's house, and I saw that a window was left open for him to enter by. My guardian had been accustomed to pay me unwelcome attentions. He was a man of fierce passions and an uncontrollable temper. He desired my consent to a marriage with him. On the night of the tragedy he came to my room, excited with wine, and renewed his solicitations for my hand. To get rid of him, I at last confessed to him that I had formed another attachment. He cried out that he could not live to witness the triumphs of a rival, but that he must destroy himself there and then; and with the words he ran from me. Terribly agitated with the effect of my avowal, and with the knowledge of that other appointment even now awaiting me in my guardian's study, which was on the ground floor, and whither customarily no one came of a night, I pursued him, but in time to see him, through the opened door, place a pistol, which he had taken from his desk, to his head and pull the trigger. With the flash and report, I fell as if dead, and remember nothing more till the voice of my beloved seemed to call upon me to rise from the tomb; when I opened my eyes and saw Hussey standing above me.'

"Now for Mr. Hussey's statement:

"'I had an assignation with a young lady,' says he, 'on the night of so-and-so. A window was to be left open for me in Unthank. I had no intent whatever to commit a felony. I came to appointment, and had only one moment entered, when I heard rapid footsteps outside, and a man, with a desperate look on him, hurried into the room, snapped a pistol from a drawer, put it to his head, and, before I could stop him, fired., I swear, that, so far from killing him, I tried to prevent him killing himself. I jumped, even as he fell, and snatched the pistol from his hand.

"'Simultaneously with his deed I heard a scream outside. Still holding the weapon, I went to the door, and saw the form of her I had come to visit lying in that trance from which she has but now recovered. As I stood stupefied, the watch entered and took me. From that time I knew that, lacking her evidence, it was hopeless to attempt to vindicate myself. After sentence I broke prison, rushed straight to her house on the chance, found her lying, and called out upon her in my agony. She had been deaf, and she woke to me, to the sound of my voice. I know no more than that she did; and there is the whole truth.'"

The Deputy Clerk stopped. No one spoke.

"Now, gentlemen," said he, "I don't ask you to pronounce upon these affidavits. In the upshot the law accepted them, admitting a miscarriage of justice. What I ask your verdict on is as to if, quashing its own committal to prison as invalid, it could hold the man guilty of escaping?"

This started the ball, and for minutes it was tossed back and forth. Presently the tumult subsided, and Brindley spoke authoritatively for the rest:

"Certainly it could, and for any violence committed in the act. The man was sentenced by the law and incarcerated; and prison-breaking is an offense against the law. Moreover, he put himself out of court by damaging the warder."

"That was where he wanted to put himself," said the Deputy Clerk. It was certain that he was deplorably flippant.

Brindley waved the impertinence by.

"The offense was altogether apart from the other," he said.

"But how could it be?" protested the Clerk: "since it owed directly to it? If he hadn't been imprisoned, he couldn't have hurt the warder. Supposing you hold me to the ground unfairly, you can't be surprised if I kick you in my struggles to escape. Besides I don't think you get behind the moral. The law admitted that it was in the wrong."

"Not at all. It admitted that the man was in the right."

"Isn't that the same?"

"Oh, my friend! I see you havn't got the rudiments. Hussey was a prisoner: A criminal is a prisoner: Ergo, Hussey was a criminal."

"But he was a prisoner in error!"

"And the law might very properly pardon him that; but not his violence in asserting it."

The Duputy Clerk shrugged his shoulders hopelessly.

"Well it was all the same in the end," said he; "for it hanged him for pointing out his error to it, and so spoiled a very pretty tale of love and intrigue. The lady accompained him to the scaffold, and afterwards died mad. Sic itur ad astra. I will cap your syllogism, sir. An ass has long ears: The law has long ears: Ergo, the law is an ass."

"Young man," said Brindley, with more good humor than I expected; "You have missed your vocation, which was romance."

"Romance!" cried the Duputy Clerk. "It was for that I took the law!"

TO REVIVE WILTED ROSES.

Wilted roses, seemingly fit only for the rubbish heap, may be completely revived and freshened. Put the stems of the roses in a tumbler of water, and then place the tumbler and roses in a vessel of sufficient size to allow the entire bouquet to be covered. Cover the vessel tightly and leave undisturbed for 24 hours. By that time the roses will be found all fresh and invigorated as if just plucked from the bushes, with every petal covered with artificial dew. Wilted lettuce may also be freshened and kept in excellent condition for weeks if treated in the same way.—National Magazine.

NEW YORK EDITORIAL OPINION

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—The World declares Mr. Roosevelt is planning to revise the wrong way, saying: "It costs about $2.92 to ship 1000 feet of rough pine lumber from Tonawanda to New York, the freight rate being 13 cents on each 100 pounds. The Dingley law imposes a duty of $2 a 1000 on imports of Canadian lumber.

"Nobody is claiming that the railroad freight rate on lumber is too high. Everybody knows that $2 duty on Canadian lumber has worked a double injustice to the country. Why should the apostle of "a square deal" be so solicitous about regulating this $2.92 freight charge and so different about this $2 tariff evil? Even if he reduced the freight rate by one-half he could save less to the consumer than by lopping off the superfluous tariff. Moreover, it is hardly consistent in an ardent advocate of forest culture and preservation to blind the eyes to a tariff schedule which is daily encouraging the slaughter of the remnants of the country's pine forests.

"Why not a little more ardor in favor of tariff revision, Mr. President, and a little less excitement about freight rates?"

The Evening Post calls for the social ostracism and political funeral of Platt, Odell and Depew, and throws a harpoon into Mr. Roosevelt. In part, it says:

"We have now a full revelation of the way in which the Republican party in New York has been for years a political bawd, selling itself for money. Corruption has been its daily bread. It has lived upon dishonesty, thriven upon blackmail, and grown great on bribery.

"Republicans, from the President down, must feel disgraced as well as astonished by Platt's cynical admission that the party has lived in the State by bleeding orphans and robbing widows and orphans.

COMISKEY HAS NO CHANCE IN FIGHT AGAINST JOHNSON

Irate Chicago Owner Backing Down—Nothing in Talk of Consolidation Which Comes From National League Sources—Trade for Sudhoff, Browns Pitcher.

BY J. B. SHERIDAN.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—Very little, if anything, of general interest has occurred at the annual meeting of the American League now in progress at the Annex. These mogul meetings rarely develop anything in the way of news interesting to base ball followers. The club-owners deal in the peanut politics of bace ball for the entertainment of admiring and gaping baseball reporters, who then write columns for their own entertainment and the great pain of their readers.

One of the bona fide trades being discussed concerns Sudhoff of the Browns and Jacobson, the left-hander of the Washington club. Mr. Hedges has a chance to make this trade and is considering it. He needs a southpaw on his staff, but it not sure of Jacobson's quality.

Manager McAleer is not here and Hedges misses him in a case where judgment of players comes in. McAleer is on a hunting trip in Pennsylvania with Heidrick, and will likely book the former center fielder.

Charley Carr, the big Cleveland first baseman, will go to Cincinnati. The American League clubs waived claim to him today.

Comiskey Backing Down.

Comiskey, owner of the White Sox, is taking water on the kick at President Johnson. Comiskey says that he does not like the American League leader, but that he is on the square, true to the league, but too dictatorial. Comiskey wants Johnson's authority lessened.

There is no chance for Comiskey in this warfare on Johnson. The league president is too strong with six club owners on his side. A vote of confidence will be passed on Johnson today. Comiskey says that he will vote for it.

All talk of consolidation comes from National League sources. Every man in the American is not only verbally but sentimentally and commercially opposed to such a move. The National League people seem to be promoting a newspaper propaganda for consolidation. There is nothing in it.

Yale and Harvard Stars Who Will Meet Saturday

WILL PLAY ONLY ONE GAME SAY LEADERS OF SOCKER LEAGUERS

Dr. Murray of St. Louis Association Declares McKenna Aggregation Is Thinking Too Much of Gate Receipts—Will Not Interrupt Schedule for 3 Games.

Officers of the St. Louis Football Association feel that the finance proposition is figuring entirely too much in the negotiations now going on for a game of football for the championship of St. Louis between the aggregation which has organized under the name of the All-Stars, and the team to be selected from the St. Louis Football Association. The present officials of the association feel that they have placed the game on a higher plane than it has occupied in St. Louis for years, and they claim that if the game is to be played that it must be strictly on football lines and not with one eye steadily directed toward the amount of revenue to be derived.

Manager Jack McKenna's proposition to the St. Louis Football Association was to play one game with the All-Stars for the championship of the city of St. Louis. McKenna issued the challenge Nov. 13, the game to be played at some future date for wagers of any amount from $100 to $500 a side.

Dr. Murray on behalf of his association promptly accepted the defi, posting a forfeit of $250. Wednesday night the All-Star aggregation met at Newstead and Lee avenues and consummated details to cover Dr. Murray's forfeit money of $250, and agreed that there should be three games played instead of one and that "Tiger" Daly should be included in the line-up. It was also agreed that the games must be played at League Park.

First Agreement Must Stand.

Dr. Murray said Thursday morning: "The All-Stars will have to adhere to their original proposition made to me if they desire to play our representatives and not submit new and arbitrary terms. The proposition as I understand it is to play all the games at League Park. That is ridiculous. We have our own park and would naturally want one or more of the games to be played there in case there should be more than one. We can not break up our schedule for the convenience of the All-Stars, and one game is all that we desire to play, and this game should be played at Sportsman's Park as according to the ethics of all contests the challenged party has the right to select the battle-ground.

"Our terms to Mr. McKenna, when we accepted his challenge, were that the All-Stars must play the same men and subs that were used in the Detroit game. The addition of "Tiger" Daly to their eleven seems a violation of this proposition. I do not desire to be inveigled into this contest for the sake of the money there is in it, and the moment we feel the scent of finance becoming too strong, the St. Louis Football Association will announce its intention of withdrawing from any contemplated game. We went into the proposition because we felt the public wanted the match, and that it would promote socker ball. We have our own organization, and we do not intend to disrupt it for the sake of any eleven."

Lloyd Rickart, secretary of the St. Louis Football Association, said: "It is my belief that there are certain parties interested in the promotion of this game who desire to induce our association to enter into a contest with them for the amount of revenue to be derived from such contests. The St. Louis Football Association must not and will not aid in such a project. We have accepted Manager McKenna's original terms for a match. Why should he deviate from them? The All-Stars have already created enough havoc in the ranks of the socker game. It might not be a bad idea to leave them entirely alone—unrecognized as far as our association is concerned."

What Kulage Says.

Henry Kulage, who is considered in the inside circles of the association game, said Thursday morning: "This bandying of challenges by the All-Stars is a finance scheme to 'get the money.' These men practically disrupted the St. Louis professional league at once time, and it would be disbanded were it not reorganized under the auspices of its present corps of officers. I predicted several days ago that the All-Stars would not be satisfied with the money derived from one game—that they would insist on at least three and perhaps more; the more games, you know, the more money.

"These All-Stars one time had the socker game practically run to earth. I believe the St. Louis professional association and Amateur League have inaugurated a renaissance that will be good for the game. If Dr. Murray is wise he will insist on the original terms of Manager McKenna's agreement."

RUGBY FOOTBALL NOTES.

The West Ends will go to Alton Saturday, accompanied by a large delegation of rooters, to play the Western Military Academy. The West End players are all in excellent condition and should acquit themselves creditably.

Dave Lamb, Mal Smith and Barney Blaney, all old High School players, were interested spectators of yesterday's Central High School's scrub practice.

The Manual Training School football team at Kansas City has disbanded for the year on account of the accident to Homer Gibson, right halfback of the team, who was dangerously injured in the game at Lincoln, Neb., last Saturday.

There is a rumor at Sportsman's Park that all is not well between Left Tackle Dingman and Coach Dowd. The belief is, however, that Dingman will be back in the line for the Cape Girardeau and Iowa games.

Jimmy Wear of St. Louis, who distinguished himself some years ago as quarterback of the Yale eleven, and Thorne of Northwestern have been chosen as the officials to officiate in the St. Louis U.-Iowa game.

WANT RETURN GAME WITH K. C. ELEVEN

Business Men Would Back Central High in Contest to Be Played in St. Louis.

Several prominent business men, among them Nat Klein, the father of Eddie Klein, the clever Central High School player, have offered to wager sums of money from $500 up that the local players can defeat the Kansas City High Eleven in a return game. The only proviso made by the gentlemen is that the game be played in St. Louis.

The matter was broached to several of the Central players Wednesday afternoon and they all expressed themselves as anxious for another try at Kansas City, feeling confident that they would reverse the 11—6 score at Columbia.

It is scarcely likely that the Central High officials would extend their season under these conditions, but if some public spirited football enthusiast would offer to bring the Kansas City eleven here with a guarantee of all expenses there is a likelihood of his proposition being accepted.

THE GENTLEMEN'S GAME

A French pool tournament will be inaugurated at the Hub Thursday night. Among those who have signified their intention of competing are C. Meyer, J. Frank, W. Frank, P. Summersby, C. L. Summersby, E. P. Sofner, J. E. Saylor, H. R. Kurtz, William Elkin, Charlie Spink, G. Shine and Mike Heib.

Tonight Waldecker and Persoff are scheduled for play in the final match of the Broadway pool tournament. Both men have won seven matches and lost but one, and the game will decide to whom the first prize shall go. Last night Walter Ely won three straight games from George English.

Joerder and Nunnelley will play at the Iroquois tonight in the French pool tournament. Murphy defaulted to Shepherd Wednesday and Davenport defeated Swan six games to five.

Thursday night Smith and Vincent will meet in the three-cushion at the Royal. Last night Guthrel defeated Johnson 35 to 34.

Wilson and Wallace will be the contestants in the Hauser three-cushion tournament this evening. Last night's match was postponed owing to the illness of one of the contestants of the proposed match.

At the Grand Thursday night Hook won from Hoffman by a score of 25 to 12. Davenport and Wilson this evening.

ANSWERS TO SPORT QUERIES

A. R.—Alcohol is the liquid generally used for rubbing down athletes.

FOOTBALL TALK

BY F. S. CODDING.

Old football men always believed that the team with the best quarterback holds an immense advantage in the game. There are three qualities which a good quarter should possess—coolness, generalship and punting ability. He ought to be a drop-kicker, too, but he frequently is not. Experts agree in giving the championship among quarterbacks to Eckersall of Chicago. It doesn't seem to matter from what angle he tries to drop kick, the ball generally goes between the bars. He also runs his team in excellent fashion and is a wonder at running back punts.

It is not an easy matter to line up the other quarterbacks in the order of their excellence. Tad Jones of Yale has a reputation, but he hasn't yet had a big game. He is a star man when running with the ball, and seems to have the head, according to reports, but judgment on him must be reserved until after the Harvard game.

Dillon of Princeton is a steady player and quick as lightning. Stevenson of Pennsylvania is a magnificent runner in a broken field, a sure tackler and one of the hardest men in the game to hold, but he is a fumbler and that handicaps him seriously. Those at the Harvard-Penn game grew tired of keeping track of Stevenson's fumbles.

Crowell of Swartmore and Shuster of Lafayette are star drop-kickers and good allround quarterbacks, but outside of Eckersall there are none who compare with Rockwell of Yale, whose football days ended last year. Starr of Harvard is a good enough man, but he loses his head. He was completely "up in the air" during the Pennsylvania game, say the experts.

Manager Richardson of Washington University intends to profit by the unsatisfactory ending to the Missouri-Washington game and will start Saturday's contest with the School of Mines team promptly at 2:30 o'clock. Billy Connett and Byron Anderson have been selected to officiate.

Practice at the Stadium has been light all week, not enough of the scrubs showing up to allow scrimmage work. An effort has been made to get the entire squad out this afternoon, and Fairweather will put the regulars through the final hard workout for the Rolla game. The Myrtle and Maroon will not have an easy time of it Saturday. The Miners have been winning consistently all season and they proved their class last week by beating Arkansas by a score three times as large as Washington made.

SPORTING MISCELLANY.

Cresceus, the famous trotter, was sold in Madison Square Garden Wednesday afternoon for $21,000 to M. W. Savage of Minneapolis, who also owns Dan Patch.

King Victor Emmanual of Italy has promised important prizes for auto boats if the next contest for the Mediterranean Cup takes place, as proposed, between Palermo and Toulon.

Dispatches from San Francisco indicate that even money will be the prevailing price offered in the Jimmy Gardner-Mike (Twin) Sullivan bout Thanksgiving night.

HARVARD TO PLAY WITHOUT CAPTAIN

Hurley, Best Ground Gainer, Is Not in Condition—Crimson's Chances With Yale Small.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 23.—"Dan" Hurley, captain of the Harvard football eleven, will not play against Yale when the Crimson and Blue meet in their annual gridiron battle on Saturday. This was the sad announcement made by Coach Reid at a tremendous mass meeting of fully 1500 undergraduates.

"I have sad news for you fellows," said Reid. "Our team will play on Saturday without its captain and leader." He then went on to explain how Hurley had sprained a tendon in his leg early in the season, and although he was given complete rest during the first three weeks, the injury never completely mended. After the Dartmouth game last Saturday his injury became worse and a blow in the head, received in scrimmage the past week, helped to putting him out of the game.

In the absence of Hurley, Wendell will play the position of right halfback on the crimson eleven. Wendell is a brilliant runner and good line plunger and a hard fighter, but he can never fill the place of the man whose wonderful playing in the Yale game last year stamped him as one of the greatest halfbacks Harvard ever had. Hurley's loss to the crimson team can hardly be estimated, and without him Harvard's chances of beating the Elis on Saturday are reduced to almost a minimum.

"The team will not spring 56 new plays on Saturday," said Reid. "It will play the same game that you have seen it play. There may be one or two new things, but nothing important has been kept from the students. The team has at times shown power, which if consistently applied, would be unstoppable. The impression that it is a scared team is a wrong one. It is not a scared team. It is not afraid of Yale's speed, age or scores. It is a team which will play its hardest and needs the support of every man in the university. Without its captain it will play for its captain."

TROTTING KING MAY RACE NO MORE

Cresceus Sold at Auction for $21,000—Retired to Stud.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Cresceus, once king of the trotting turf, and the only stallion that ever established and held a world's record, was sold at the "Old Glory" horse sale at Madison Square Garden to M. W. Savage of Minneapolis, Minn., for $21,000. Savage is also the owner of the two greatest harness race horses alive—Dan Patch and Directum.

Only two bids were made. One of $20,000 was made by P. H. McGuire of New York after a long silence, broken only by the auctioneer's pleadings. Savage made his offer of $1000 more. When it was evident that McGuire could not be urged to pass that sum the stallion passed into new hands and in all probability out of the racing world for all times. Savage said that he would ship Cresceus to his stud farm near Minneapolis at once.

George H. Ketchum of Toledo, O., the former owner of Cresceus, had paid $52,000 for the stallion when he was still a youngster.

YOST'S RECORD AS FOOTBALL COACH

Famous Michigan Leader Has Been Rugby Instructor for Nine Years.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 23.—Coach Yost of Michigan is now in his ninth year as a football teacher. He played at West Virginia University as a tackle for a couple of years, then went up to Lafayette, where he was tackle on the team that walloped Pennsylvania 6 to 4. He was a good player, attentive to the fine points of the game, a joy to his coaches, who never suspected him as greater coaching material than they themselves.

Ohio Wesleyan took him on as coach in 1897. He had about eleven men in the entire football squad. His biggest game was with Michigan. He tied the Wolverines 0 to 0. In 1898 he coached Nebraska to defeat the Cornhuskers' most formidable rival, Kansas, 18 to 6. The next year he took the Kansas team he had beaten and turned it into a machine that beat Nebraska 30 to 20. He had to score fast in that game to keep ahead of the boot of one man who made only four field goals in the course of the contest. From Kansas Yost went to Leland Stanford. By the narrow margin of 5 to 0 he downed "King" Kelly's superb California eleven.

Coming to Michigan in 1901, "the hurry-up coach" had all the West going from the start. In 11 games his team made 550 points to a big round zero on their opponents' side of the scoreboard. In 1902, his eleven in 11 games piled up 644 points to 12, Case and Minnesota both ringing in scores on flukes. The hard game that year was the 6-0 battle against King on Marshall Field, Chicago. In 1903, Yost was tied at Minnesota, 6 to 6, because he did not realize how good the Gophers were, and failed to make adequate preparation for them. His team went through 12 games, gaining 565 points against 6, that fall. In 1904, 10 games netted 567 points to 22 for opponents, Drake and Chicago getting to Michigan for the most points made against the Maize and Blue in four years.

This fall, Yosts's machine has won 11 games, in which opponents have been unable to score, and in which the Wolverine has tacked up 420 points to his credit.

Among the prominent coaches who have fallen before Yost are Stagg of Chicago, King, Curtis and Cochems of Wisconsin, Williams of Minnesota, Lowenthal of Illinois, Booth of Nebraska, Knipe of Iowa and Sweetland of Ohio State. In the coaching world now there are several teachers who were Yost's pupils. Some of them, like McGugin and Herrnstein, seem destined to make names for themselves.

TREASURES GARTER DROPPED BY SHERLIN

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 23.—Miss Catherine Vincent, instructor in a New York private school, is the proud possessor of a bright blue garter which was dropped by Capt. "Tom" Shevlin of the Yale football team on the field Saturday last when Yale beat Princeton.

Miss Vincent sat in a conspicuous seat in the stand near the side lines. She saw the lusty Yale man as his stocking fell in a scrimmage and the blue garter was left on the field. She watched the bit of blue and immediately when the game was over made a dash for it. To her surprise it had a silver clasp. But in her eagerness for a souvenir she was not deterred from her resolution to keep it. She took it back to New York in her pocketbook.

C. B. C. WILL TRY THE OPEN GAME

Scrimmages Will Give Way to End Runs and Punting in Saturday's Game.

Saturday's game at the Christian Brothers' College campus, between the college team and a team picked from the Alumni, will be something of an experiment. Brother Gideon and others at the head of athletic affairs at the college, is anxious to test the efficacy and popularity of the so-called open game of Rugby, which is being so widely commented upon this year. Mass plays will be eliminated to a great extent Saturday, and much attention will be devoted to punting, drop-kicking and end runs.

Frank Brockmeyer of the regular team, and Jimmy Riordan, a former C. B. C. star, and probably the best goal kicker ever developed in St. Louis, will be opposed to each other. Both have been practicing for some time and it is likely that each side will score more than once by means of field goals. Riordan made a number of place kicks Wednesday from the 60-yard line.

Most of the crack players of C. B. C. teams for the last five years will be in the Alumni line-up. They will outweigh the regular men seevral pounds on an average, but this will not seriously affect the result in view of the intention to play an open game and banish scrimmages. The lineup of the Alumni is as follows: Felter c, Jordan lg, Shay lt, Brittingham le, Foley q, Bartliff rg, Powers rt, Barrere re, Pennington lh, McManus rh, Riordan fb.

NO WONDER THE INDIANS PLAY GOOD FOOTBALL

Every Gridiron Brave Has a Sweetheart at the Game to Cheer Him.

CARLISLE, Pa., Nov. 23.—There is no wonder the Indians play good football. Twenty-three sweethearts of the players go to the games and cheer their braves of the gridiron on to victory.

Each member of the team is given the privilege of inviting his sweetheart to the games, and Miss Sarah E. Newcomb, a teacher at the Carlisle school, goes with the Indian maidens. They even went to Cambridge for the Harvard contest.

At the games away from Carlisle there are no husky warriors to cheer along the team. The girls take their seats in the center of the grandstand, each proudly bearing the colors of her chief, some carrying bright red blankets, and each one wearing the red and gold of Carlisle. There they make their presence known to the players by singing songs, in which every one of the football braves is a hero.

Thirteen tribes are represented by the Indian maidens.

Play Tie Game at Socker.

The Harrisons and the Bryan Hills played a game of association football Tuesday, the score being a tie, 0—0. The features of the game were the splendid playing of Joe Riedmeyer and George Muirhead of the Harrisons and the fine defensive work of the Bryan Hills. The following players constitute the line-up of the Harrisons: Joe Riedmeyer, Geo. Muirhead, Philip Speck, Elmer Speck, John Wehemeyer, Raymond Lange, Lorie Lange, Walter Heideman, Willie Schnell, Geo. Selzer and Ben Gardner. The game was stopped on account of darkness, the teams having played 65 minutes.

BOYS BEATEN BY GIRLS AT RUGBY

Boys Forfeit Colors and Letters as Punishment for Losing—Minister a Spectator.

SOUTH NORWALK, Conn., Nov. 23.—In a hard-fought game of football between the girls of Mrs. M. E. Mead's seminary, Hillsdale, and the second eleven of boys from the Overlook-Select Military Academy, the girls won by a score of 12 to 0. After the game the academy voted to take the colors and letters from the boys for one month as punishment for suffering defeat from girls.

The contest was played under the regular rules and was contested vigorously. Basketball and gymnasium work had put the girls in excellent physical condition and they broke through the boys lines of defense time and again. They displayed surprising knowledge of the game and its tricks.

Miss Mary Rider was captain of the seminary team. As center rush she not only bore the brunt of the contest, but proved an adept at kicking goals.

Among the spectators were Rev. George D. Egbert of the Norwalk Congregational Church, Edward S. Gumbart, superintendent of schools, and professors of the academy, who acted as officials.

RYAN BEATS PANTZ IN 15-ROUND BOUT

Battle Was Close and the Spectators Were Not Pleased With Decision.

ROCKLAND, Me., Nov. 23.—Kid Pantz and Billy Ryan went the limit in a 15-round bout in Armory last night, the decision being awarded to the former. Ryan fought a very plucky battle, and the decision was not received kindly by the spectators. At three different stages of the fight Ryan appeared to be going, but he rallied and Pantz frequently came in for severe punishment. Ryan was excellent in ducking, but at the end of the bout he showed numerous signs of the battle, while Pantz was apparently as cool as in the beginning. In the six-round preliminary between Jimmy Doherty and Billy Webber, Doherty was given the decision.

ENGLISH SOCKER PLAYER WOULD COME HERE

Dr. Murray of the St. Louis Football Association is in receipt of an application to play socker from A. Jackson of Owensboro, Ky.

Jackson is an Englishman, who has been in America for the past several months. He wants to join a local team of the St. Louis Football Association and says that he has played with all the first-class teams in England, and competed last year with one of the British elevens for the English cup.

Dr. Murray also announced that a series of games with the Chicago socker eleven and a team from the local association have been arranged for the holidays. One game is to be played in Chicago Thanksgiving Day and two in St. Louis on Christmas and New Year's Day.

OLD SORES SAP THE VITALITY AND UNDERMINE THE HEALTH

Old Sores that refuse to heal are a constant menace to health. They sap the vitality and undermine the constitution by draining the system of its very life fluids, and those afflicted with one of these ulcers grow despondent and almost desperate as one treatment after another fails. They patiently apply salves, washes, plasters, etc., but in spite of all these the sore refuses to heal and eats deeper into the surrounding flesh, destroying the tissues and growing to be a festering, inflamed and angry mass. The source of the trouble is in the blood. This vital fluid is filled with impurities and poisons which are constantly being discharged into the sore or ulcer, making it impossible for the place to heal. It will not do to depend on external applications for a cure, because they do not reach the real cause, and valuable time is lost experimenting with such treatment; the most they can do is keep the ulcer clean. Any sore that will not heal is dangerous, for the reason that it may have the deadly germs of Cancer behind it. A cure can be brought about only through a remedy that can change the quality of the blood, and this is what S. S. S. does. It goes to the very bottom of the trouble, drives out the poisons and germs with which it is filled, and purifies and builds up the entire circulation. By the use of S. S. S. the sore is supplied with new, rich blood which corrects the trouble, soon stops the discharge, and allows the place to heal naturally and permanently. S. S. S. also reinvigorates the entire system, and when the constitution has been depleted or broken down it quickly builds it up and restores perfect health. Write for our special book on sores and ulcers, and any medical advice you are in need of; no charge for either.

One hundred and fifty clubs in St. Louis which Gov. Folk's Sunday lid doesn't cover will continue to dispense whisky and beer on the Sabbath without protest from the city. Excise Commissioner Mulvihill confesses he can't reach them, and Wednesday afternoon turned away a delegation of saloon men who went to his office to protest against the promiscuous chartering of such clubs, after telling them the charters were granted by the Secretary of State or under pro forma decrees of Circuit Courts.

Many complaints have been made by citizens and organizations, Mulvihill says. He figures that the city and State are losing $100,000 a year in licenses. But he says he is powerless.

STAGE LOVERS IN ACTUAL ROMANCE

Miss Storr and Mr. Sprengnether Realize Amateur Theatrical Role.

HAD PLAYED IN "HEARTS"

St. Anthony's Parishioners Now Understand the Source of Their Realism.

When Miss Eleanor J. Storr and Adolph A. Sprengnether are married Thursday morning at St. Anthony's Church, Compton avenue and Meramec street, a romance of amateur theatricals will be carried to a happy culmination, like romances are in plays.

Mr. Sprengnether and Miss Storr became real lovers from playing like they were lovers.

The couple are members of St. Anthony's parish. Mr. Sprengnether has had charge of the amateur productions which have been given from time to time in the hall back of the parochial school building.

Two years ago Miss Storr was given a minor part, that of "Cinders," in a play which was put on by parish talent and she made such a hit that Mr. Sprengnether gave her leading parts after that.

The effect of that was to throw them together in the role of lovers, for Mr. Sprengnether was usually the leading man.

Not long ago the dramatic club played "Hearts," in which Mr. Sprengnether and Miss Storr were lovers and those who were in on their secret did not marvel at the realism of their portrayal of affection. They had been doing some private rehearsing.

Hereafter they will play "leads" in a little domestic drama of their own, the theater which will be at 4123 South Compton avenue, where they will go to housekeeping.

Miss Storr is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Storr of 4134 Shenandoah avenue.

FITCH REFEREE IN 19 FIGHTS AT ANNAPOLIS

"Middy" Who Judged Contest Resulting in Death of "Middy" Branch Testifies.

VICTIM A STRONGER MAN

Evidence of Academy Surgeon Showed Him Better Physically Than Meriwether.

TALKED AFTER THE BOUT

Branch Conversed About Fight With Roommate and Took Hot Shower Bath.

ANNAPOLIS, Nov. 23.—The court martial trial of Midshipman Meriwether charged with the death of Midshipman Branch, who died as the result of a fight between the two men at the Academy after twenty-two rounds of milling, according to a code of the students, was resumed this morning.

The testimony thus far taken tends to show that fighting was a common way of settling differences of opinion at the academy and always left the contestants satisfied.

It was also shown that the student's code was in direct violation of the regulations of the navy department governing the academy.

And further it was shown that the academy authorities knew in a general way of the student's code and their manner of settling disputes.

Branch the Stronger Man.

Details of the physical characteristics of the two men were given in the testimony of Past Assistant Surgeon Robert E. Hoyt, who has charge of the physical department at the academy, which it was generally supposed were all in favor of Meriwether. On the contrary, Meriwether was seven months older and seven pounds heavier than Branch, and exceeded him by three and five-eighths inches in height, but Branch had the greater chest measurement and considerably larger biceps. The great disparity in Branch's favor was in total strength, in which, according to the figures of Dr. Hoyt, he registered 834 kilmoters, while Meriwether only reached 693. Meriwether is a sprinter and has had large experience in fist fights, but was not always careful of his condition. Branch was a fine boxer, wrestler and gymnasium athlete and kept in perfect trim.

Treatment of Branch After Fight.

Earl W. Prichard, the roommate of Branch, recalled to tell all the circumstances connected with Branch's treatment after the fight, said that Branch had been given a hot shower bath and treated with towels soaked with hot water and applied to his head and body. Branch, he said, had complained about soreness in one arm and parts of his head, but had talked naturally about the fight and other matters.

Pritchard had noticed some movement of the leg during Branch's sleep, but had thought nothing about it. The witness retired at 2 a. m. and arose at 5:30. He then saw that Branch was unconscious and one leg and arm had a convulsive movement. He then notified the medical authorities.

Midshipman Pritchard said that when Branch first returned to his room in his weakened condition he had suggested a drink of whisky as a stimulant, but that Prichard refused it, saying he had promised his father not to taste intoxicants until he was 25 years old.

Had Refereed 19 Contests.

Midshipman A. W. Fitch, who refereed the fight, which was followed by Branch's death, stated that he had officiated in 19 such contests, and Midshipman McKittrick testified that he had taken part in nine.

Detailed accounts were given of the arrangements by which midshipmen on duty acquiesced in absence without leave, or other directions, in order that the fight might go on; but the testimony also showed that although frequently severe injuries resulted from these fights, and the recipients often had to be taken to the hospital, nothing further was ever heard of them.

This, the defense brought out on cross examination, it being evidently intended to show that the authorities also winked at the code, and the prearanged fights under it.

What Caused Meriwether Trouble.

Interesting sidelight to hazing or "running," as it is called at the academy, developed from the testimony of one of the midshipmen. Meriwether had been generally disliked, he said, because he was too "ratty," that is, it was explained, that he did not abide by the rules laid down for the government of the lower class men.

Some of these were that he should never enter "Lover's Lane," an academy walk; that he should turn all the corners at right angles, should not look at an upper class man, and should answer most respectfully when addressed by one of them; that he must never touch the table nor ask for anything during a meal, and under no circumstances "fuss," that is, to be in the society of young women.

These rules and many others are contained in that part of the "code" relating to the government of under class men. Branch had been one of the midshipmen who, according to the testimony, determined to make life "not worth living" for Meriwether, because he would not abide by those rules, and from that the enmity arose.

MOTORS FOR TRAINS.

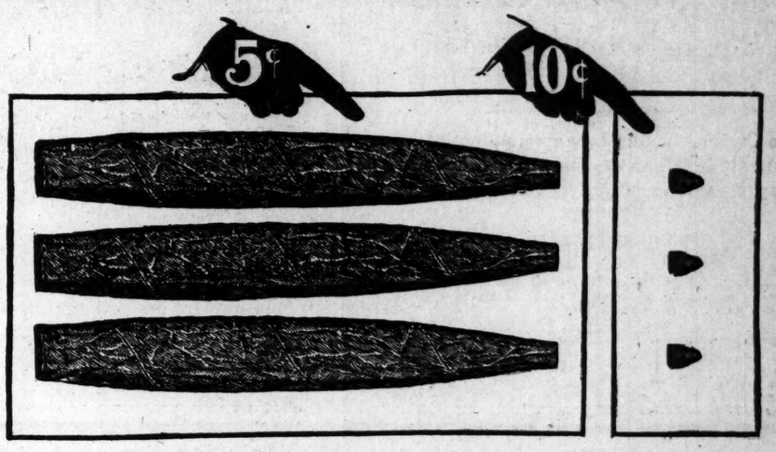

Missouri Pacific to Abandon Steam on Branch Roads.

It is probable that gasoline motor cars will soon take the place of locomotives on short branch lines of the Missouri Pacific Railroad. Officials of the road are considering the installation of such equipment as an experiment, and if it is found to meet the requirements gasoline will supercede steam on all the "stub" lines.

The type of car to be tried is a combination express and passenger coach, capable of carrying 40 to 50 passengers in addition to the usual run of expense. Such cars can be equipped with motors of sufficient power to draw a trailer as well, but in most cases one car will constitute the train.

The Northern Pacific and Santa Fe lines have begun, or are about to begin, the experiment. All the roads which have short branch lines have been waiting for something practicable of this sort and the experiment will be watched with interest.

Straight Talk to Women.

Queer Will of a Man Without Means

He Bequeathed to His Children What They Had Already Inherited—His Evil Tendencies.

Some time ago, a certain man made a strange will on his death-bed.

Not having any money or real estate to bequeath to his children, he left them a written bequest of the tendencies he knew they had already inherited from him.

He wrote: "I bequeath to my son John, my big, bony frame, also my inherited tendency to consumption. To my son Samuel, I give my love for alcoholic liquors and my irritable disposition; to my daughter Jane, my unwillingness to be restrained in my desires, also my tendency to commit suicide."

It was unusual, to say the least, yet contained an idea of special interest to women.

The man had noticed that his children possessed these tendencies. He knew that they could be mastered. So he drew his children's special attention to them in a way they could not forget.

If your bodily female weaknesses were to be called to your attention in like manner, would you not make a stronger endeavor to cure them?

You may have inherited the weak female organs which cause you so much trouble, or they may be the result of your mode of life. In any case, I have this to say to you, and say it I will, in bold, black type: THEY CAN BE STRENGTHENED WITH CARDUI, the great restorative medicine for women.

No matter if you have lost confidence—through repeated failures of doctors and other medicines—Wine of Cardui will benefit you, as, in the past 70 years, it has benefited a million other women.

For periodical pains, sick headache, backache, dizziness, crawling sensations, irregular courses, cramps and general female weakness, etc., no other known remedy will accomplish the good that Wine of Cardui will.

Try it. Your druggist sells Wine of Cardui in $1.00 bottles. Try it.

LOUISVILLE HAS 40 ELECTION CONTESTS

Fusion Candidate for Mayor Disputes Seat of Barth, Democrat.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 23.—Forty suits contesting the election of every city and county official in Louisville and Jefferson County were filed in the Circuit Court today. The principal suit is that of Jos. T. O'Neil, the fusion candidate for Mayor, vs. Paul C. Barth, Democrat, who has just been seated in the Mayoralty chair.

Charges of conspiracy, illegal registration, false returns, force and intimidation are made. The petition asks that the election of Barth be set aside; that O'Neil be declared to have been elected or that it be decreed that there has been no election.

MENELIK'S AGENT VISITS ROOSEVELT

Courier Abyssinian King Presents President With Elephant Tusk and Lion Skin.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—President Roosevelt has increased his possessions by three elephant tusks and one skin of a former fierce Numidian lion.

El Hadji Abdullah Pasha, the commercial missionary from Abyssinia, gave them to him. El Hadji wore a fine uniform when he went to the White House. It was blue, primarily, but very little of the blue could be seen for gold lace. He wore his fez and a scimitar in a gold scabbard.

The big Abyssinian had a letter of greeting to the President from King Menelik. He could not translate it, for he speaks no English, and none of his attendants could translate the letter. The President said he was glad to get the letter, and would take a half hour some day, learn Abyssinian and read it for himself.

Hadji grinned, the President grinned and both had a fine time. The President thanked El Hadji for the gifts which Hadji said came from Menelik himself. One of the tusks is nine feet long.

The President said he would put the tusks in the National Museum, but would keep the lion skin himself and put it among his collection of trophies of the chase.

MISS ROOSEVELT ILL.

President's Daughter Took Cold at Football Game.

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 23.—Miss Alice Roosevelt is ill at the home of her aunt in Farmington.

While it is said at the Cowles house today that Miss Roosevelt was in bed and resting, it was asserted that her illness was not of a serious nature.

Miss Roosevelt attended the game between Yale and Harvard freshmen at Cambridge on Saturday. She was very tired when she reached her aunt's house on Saturday night. She was fatigued Sunday and did not leave the house. Quite a number of young people of the place whom Miss Roosevelt has met upon former visits, called upon her Sunday.

It was said that Miss Roosevelt would remain in Farmington two or three days. No apprehension was had until today, when Miss Roosevelt was obliged to take to her bed. She is suffering from cold.

SIGN FOR CHAUFFEURS.

Automobile Club Posts Warning Against Deputy Sheriffs.

NOTICE.
County roads are patrolled.
AUTOMOBILE CLUB.

Such is the warning in big black letters on a white signboard placed on the Clayton road, west of the city limits, a short distance east of the famous 3000-foot stretch between Hanley road and Boland's Hill, where Marion Lambert, August Gehner, G. Lacy Crawford, Vincent Kerens and other St. Louis automobilists were arrested for exceeding the speed limit.

The Clayton road, being one of the best in the county and leading to the Country and Log Cabin Clubs, has been the scene of nearly all the arrests for fast driving since four special deputy sheriffs were sworn in a month ago in response to a petition of the farmers asking that reckless auto driving be stopped.

To the chauffeur and automobile owner the sign means, "Throw in your low gear clutch. Be careful about coasting down grade, for there is a Deputy Sheriff or two with a stop-watch and a gun further on."

AN UNLUCKY WISHBONE.

Watchman Laughed While Eating and Down It Went.

Joseph Britton, aged 63 years, a private watchman living at 6328 Catalpa street, is at the City Hospital in a sad plight because he laughed at the wrong time. A chicken bone, which he swallowed early Thursday morning, is lodged in Britton's throat and so far has resisted the attempts of the City Hospital physicians to remove it.

Britton was eating his lunch at a stand at the Suburban tracks and Easton avenue shortly after midnight. Between bites he laughed at the jokes of a neighborhood character who styles himself the "Blacksmith of the Wild West."

Just when Britton was munching the last bite of meat off a wishbone the blacksmith sprung a merry quip.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed the watchman, and, presto! the unlucky part of the wishbone vanished down his throat.

Trade Unionism's Mission.

William M. Brandt, recent Socialist candidate for Mayor, will speak at Druid's Hall Thursday evening on "Trade Unionism, Its Historic Mission." The lecture is one of a bi-monthly series to be held throughout the winter. Admission is free.

IN SOCIETY

Notices of social events intended for publication in the Sunday Post-Dispatch should reach the Post-Dispatch office not later than noon of the Friday preceding.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Charles Tittmann have issued invitations for the marriage of their second daughter, Miss Emma Fabian Tittman, to Charles Arthur Record of Boston, Mass.

The ceremony will be performed Thursday evening, Dec. 7, at 8 o'clock, at Christ Church Cathedral. A small reception will follow the church wedding at the home of Mr and Mrs. Tittmann, 4276 Washington boulevard. The bride and bridegroom will go for a honeymoon journey in the East. The Indiana at-home card states that Mr. and Mrs. Record will be at home Fridays in February at 5 Vernonia street, Brookline, Mass.

The reception given by Mr and Mrs. Frederick C. Lake of 4360 Westminster place Thursday evening will claim the attention of St. Louis fashionable society. The reception is given to introduce Miss Julia Lake to their large circle of friends. The hours are from 8:30 to 10 o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. Lake will receive alone with their daughter. Mr. and Mrs. Byron Nugent, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nugent, Mr. and Mrs. James Nugent, Mr. and Mrs. William Duncan, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Low and Mr. and Mrs. Jacobs will assist throughout the reception hours. Miss Boehmken, Florence Longstreth, Marian Lewis and Mildred Werthelmer will be without hats. The decorations in the drawing room, where Mr. and Mrs. Lake and Miss Lake will receive, will be pink roses, artistically disposed. The library will be in yellow chrysanthemums and in the dining room American Beauty roses will be employed. About 400 invitations have been issued.

Mrs. C. W. Booker of 4155 Washington boulevard will be hostess Friday afternoon at a tea given between the hours of 4 and 6 o'clock at her home. She will be assisted by her mother, Mrs. Alfred White Roberts and Mrs. John Calvin Roberts will receive with the hostess. Mrs. Jackson Johnson, Mrs. Frank Lyn Armstrong, Mrs. Sim T. Price Sr., Mrs. Sim T. Price Jr., Mrs. Robert Bostick, Mrs. Henry Whiteside will be without hats.

Miss Adele Armstrong, Miss Alice Sloan, Miss Helen Johnson, Miss Lucille Campbell, Miss Ada Kaiser and Miss Fay Johnstone will serve.

Mrs. Joseph Barada Widen's reception Wednesday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock was one of the prettiest of the season. Mrs. Widen received her 300 guests with her daughter, Mrs. Aubrey Schatzman. Mrs. Widen wore a Paris gown of Brussels point lace, with touches of pale blue on the bodice and triple flounced skirt. Mrs. Widen's jewels are among the most beautiful worn in St. Louis. Many of them were worn in the bodice. Mrs. Schatzman was in a white lace gown with orchid tinted velvet and embroidery on the corsage. Assisting Mrs. Widen were Mrs. Joseph B. Chambers in pink shirred chiffon; Mrs. George Willard Teasdale, in violet crepe and Bruges lace; Mrs. Allen M. Holliday, in white renaissance lace over chiffon; Mrs. Richard Upshaw, in onan lace; Mrs. John J. Raleigh in white chiffon, veiled in duchess and point applique lace; Mrs. Beggs, in pearl grey brocade, and Mrs. Adel Webster in black lace. Some of the guests who called were: Mmes. B. F. Givens, Schurz Carter, M. B. O'Reilly, Paul Bakewell, Thomas O'Reilly, Oonde Benoist, George S. McGrew, John H. Carroll, J. W. Fristoe, Thomas Crouch, John Ellis Jennings, J. Greffeth, William Christy, Joseph Wheless, W. Teasdale, C. W. Mansur, John E. Hall, C. D. Johnson, William Boeckler, Paul Brown, Paul Brown Jr., George R. Barclay, Lee Meriwether, Lacy Crawford, Morton Jourdon, Joseph Boyce, James Garneau, Joseph Q. Greenwold, Jackson Johnson, Nelson McLeod, Rose Walker, Misses Grace Bell, Nellie Crouch, Fitzgibbon, Florence Longstreet, Lucille Chouteau, Imogene Blakley, Bakwell, Eugenia Cole, Sybil Marquis, Ethel Moore, Blanch Benoist, Mary Royer, Sallie Boyce, Alice Taylor, Sallie Boyle, Branonier, Helen Teasdale, Olive Rae, Anna Lou Caldwell, Nanie Greffett.

The marriage of Miss Margaret Ewing Wilkinson and Charles Townley Malcolmson was celebrated at St. John's M. E. Church at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening. After the church service there was a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ewing Sloan in Washington boulevard, as the Kirkwood home of the bride's parents was at an inconvenient distance. Miss Wilkinson wore a bridal robe of soft white silk with family point lace trimmings. The tulle veil was caught with bridal flowers and she carried valley lilies. Miss Jane Wilkinson, the maid of honor, was in white French muslin with inserts and frills of valenciennes lace. She carried lace ferns, tied with pale blue ribbons. Mr. Malcolmson had as his best men Hobart Young and Messrs. Guy Blackmer, Walter Talbot, Murry Sanders of New York and John Burrows of Baltimore, ushered. Mr. and Mrs. Malcolmson departed for a bridal journey and will make their residence in Kirkwood upon their return.

In the audience at the Garrick Wednesday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Koehler, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Mersman, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Niedringhaus, Mr. and Mrs. Fidello Harp, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Simmons, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Marx, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Niedringhaus, Miss Sarah Tower, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Blickhahn, Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Niedringhaus, Mr. and Mrs. Curby.

Select your Christmas gifts now at Bolland's new jewelry store, 513 Locust.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Norris of New York, accompanied by their baby and maid, spent last week at the Grand Avenue Hotel, during which time they were much entertained. Tuesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Francis Paul Toser gave a box party and supper in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Norris of New York. Mrs. Norris wore a handsome plum-colored gown and Mrs. Toser a pink crepe de chine. In the party were Mr. Norris' mother, sisters and Mr. William Ayres.

Mrs. John H. Tennent Jr. has sent out cards for a tea, Monday, Nov. 27, in honor of her sister, Mrs. George C. Scott.

Miss Josephine Virden is the guest of Miss Hazel Heath of Chicago.

Found Dead in Stable.

Henry Overrath, 45 years old, a teamster living at 1402 East Third street, Alton, was found dead at 6 a. m. Thursday at the stable of the Illinois Glass Works in that city. His body was lying close to the feet of the horses, but there were no marks on it and the supposition is that he died of heart disease from which he had been a sufferer. He left his home at 4 o'clock to groom the horses. He was 45 years old. He leaves a wife and six children.

St. Louis Getting the Bulk of Southwestern Business.

Mr. C. F. Blanke, who has just returned from a visit to Texas, and especially to Dallas, says that in all branches of trade through this territory St. Louis products are most popular with consumers, and the sales of St. Louis products are more than double the products of any other city. Mr. Blanke has just returned from Dallas on a visit to inspect the branch plant his company has just started in Dallas, which the Blanke Coffee Co. found it necessary to erect in order to handle with more facility their increasing business throughout the Texas territory.

The Blanke Coffee Co. now have branch houses in New York, Chicago, Kansas City, Denver and Dallas.

PREACHER 'LID' FASTENER GOES TO CHURCH ARMED.

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 22.—With two pistols in his hip pockets and accompanied by an armed bodyguard of three private detectives and two uniformed policemen, Rev. Geo. E. Parisoe of Evanston last night conducted a prayer meeting at the Highwood Methodist Church.

Outside the sullen populace and the village authorities growled and grumbled, but, overawed by a squad of 20 United States soldiers armed with bayoneted rifles, and commanded by a lieutenant, made no attempt to vent their displeasure on the preacher who has fastened down the Highwood "lid."

Highwood is virtually under martial law. Col. Witall, who is in charge of troops at Fort Sheridan, has a heavy guard of his men parade the streets every night.

Soldiers, armed with bayonets, stand at the entrance of Fort Sheridan Park dance hall and bar the way to persons who have been frequenters. The Highwood populace is furious, but has no recourse.

All this because the Rev. Mr. Parisoe has dared to lock horns with the element of Highwood which, he alleges, has been flagrantly violating the liquor law.

Jesuit University for Chicago.

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—Permission for the erection by the order of the Society of Jesus of a Jesuit University on the North Side, which will be perhaps the largest Roman Catholic institution of learning in the United States, is expected to follow action said already to have been taken by Archbishop Quigley in authorizing a third Jesuit parish in Chicago. The university probably will be at Devon and Evanston avenue.

BETTER FEELING TO WHEAT MARKET

Reports of Unfavorable Weather Gives the Bulls the Advantage.

OTHER GRAINS QUIET

Foreign Weakness in Corn Makes Buyers in This Grain Cautious.

A better feeling prevailed in the grain market today and prices closed higher all along the line. The buying was of a better character than has prevailed any day this week and market sentiment was bullish.

Wet weather in many parts of the wheat-growing country was primary cause of the improvement, although Armour support in the Chicago market contributed its share to the improved speculation.

Decreased receipts in the Northwest also discouraged the selling interests, Duluth, Minneapolis and Chicago reporting only 805 cars. No comparison with last year on account of its being a holiday.

Argentine weather reports continue favorable, but estimates of the recent damage to wheat in that country from frost are being increased.

Foreign markets were lower, Liverpool closing ¼d lower on wheat and ⅝d lower on corn. Berlin wheat closed at a decline of ⅝c and Budapest at ⅜c. Paris wheat closed ¼c lower and Antwerp wheat unchanged.

Broomhall's cable states that in Russia, navigation in the Azof is expected to continue for at least three weeks, as the weather continues mild. In Roumania the corn export prohibition was rescinded last night. The provincial officials estimate is confirmed, as given by Broomhall, Oct. 31, and is: Corn crop, 1905, 64,000,000 bu; 1904, 19,800,000 bu; 1903, 78,400,000 bu; 1902, 60,000,000 bu; 1901, 112,000,000 bu.

RAILWAYS ISSUES STRONG FEATURES

United Railways issues were the strong feature of the trading at the session of the Stock Exchange today and both the common and preferred stock scored sharp advances. Bids were made at $32 for 500 share lots of the common stock at the opening of the market, but the first sales made were at $32.75.

The demand continued excellent at the advance and sales were made later at $33.25. The closing price was near the best figure of the day. The stock sold last at $30.50 and was quoted yesterday at $30.87½ bid and offerings at $31.25. United Railways preferred touched the high point on the present upward movement on sales at $83.50 and $83.62½.

The demand in the bank and trust list was confined to a few issues. National Bank of Commerce was steady at $345 and $345.50. Commonwealth Trust was unchanged at $346. Missouri-Lincoln Trust gained ½ point at $143.50. The balance of the list was firm.

UNION PACIFIC'S RISE STEADIES THE MARKET

Enormous Buying in This Security Lifts the Price Over $3 Per Share and Under This Influence the Trend of Prices Is Upward.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Prices were irregular at the opening of the stock market today. Trading was on a heavy scale and the undertone of the list uncertain.

Market sentiment both locally and abroad continues optimistic, although it is generally conceded that the rise has been too rapid. The broad character of the trading, however, indicates that for the first time in months the public's interest has been awakened in the market, and if buying from this source can be attracted on a large scale it is hard to forsee just when the upward swing will culminate.

London prices reflected an irregular range on American issues before the local opening. The Bank of England's rate of discount is unchanged at 4 per cent.

The Specialties.

A drive was made at the Rock Island issues and San Francisco second preferred in the second hour and the market sold off sharply on this account. Rumors are again prevalent that the dividend on Frisco second preferred is shortly to be cut or suspended, but this report is generally discredited. Western houses, and especially those with St. Louis connections, have been heavy sellers of this security yesterday and today, but this selling was generally believed to represent forced liquidation to protect other stocks sold short by the same parties. The report is also current that the statement of earnings of the company shortly to be issued will make a very poor showing and in some well-posted quarters the selling is said to be on this account. Metropolitan Securities were the strong feature of the morning's trading, rising rapidly against the declining current of the market. The report that the Metropolitan Securities Co. has bought control of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Co. in the open market was responsible for the rise.

The Money Market.

The banks in their operations with the subtreasury are gainers to the extent of $890,000 on the week and the indications are that the coming bank statement will make a favorable showing. The flow of currency cannot as yet be figured accurately, but it is thought that the movement will not be such as to cause any severe loss in cash. The speculation on the bull side in the stock market should be reflected unfavorably by the loan item, but shifting of loans by the banks to the trust companies will no doubt take care of any excessive appreciation in the loan item, especially as the banking interests seem to be in touch with the present bull speculation, and are evidently making every effort to keep the money market in as healthy shape as possible. Money rates remain practically unchanged at 5¼ to 5¾ per cent, and excepting during the last few weeks in the current year, an excessive rate like that which recently prevailed is not again expected in well-informed circles.

POPULATION IS THE PROOF!

The Present Population of St. Louis Proves the Future of

UNIVERSITY HEIGHTS

Every city moves in natural directions when it can.

St. Louis has but one natural direction in which it can move, and that is WEST.

Toward the west there is but ONE CHOICE and that the supreme choice of all St. Louis—UNIVERSITY HEIGHTS.

Supreme because University Heights is not one single "residence street," liable to be destroyed in value by bad property creeping up to it, but University Heights is the one and only complete RESIDENCE PARK DISTRICT of St. Louis forever cut off and safe from shabby neighborhoods.

WHY?

South—Lies Washington University, from which the Heights takes its name; Washington University with its broad acres of high lands and beautiful buildings, and they are there to remain forever.

North—Lie the beautiful country homes, the golf links and the club buildings of the Glen Echo Club.

East—And you have the 5-million dollar reserve of Park View Realty Company.

On the West—University Heights itself will control, for it is its own west protection, and with south, north and east assured, the west is safe.

Think what all this means five years from now. Better yet, think what it means right NOW, TO-DAY; nearly a mile square of perfect property.

Every foot of road in University Heights boulevarded; every lot a preferred front lot, every house a private residence.

Not a saloon, not a flat building, not a hotel, not a boarding house, not one objectionable feature, but hundreds of refined, cultured, beautiful private homes.

No railroad yards or dangers, but a broad expanse of HOME and SAFETY and PROTECTION for YOUR family; playgrounds for the children in a world of trees and flowers, and sunshine and fresh air on the highest ground; the best water and sewerage; and ALL BOUGHT AND PAID FOR WHEN YOU BUY YOUR LOT.

No taxes until December, 1906; no interest on your deferred payments for two years, and only 4% thereafter.

These lots are selling now at prices which in the best judgment of the best experts will enhance in value by 50% or more within two years from to-day.

Can we wonder at the demand for this property? Is it wonderful at all that the best people in St. Louis are seizing this one last chance for a HOME in the only perpetual residence park district of St. Louis?

Drop a card or note of inquiry to the sales agents for this property and post up for yourself on the "St. Louis Home Question."

You will receive in reply a book worth reading; facts you can't forget: and easy-payment terms that will surprise. Send for these—you'll be glad you did.

'PHONE GIRL NOW RICH MAN'S WIFE

Captures Orange Planter—Millionaire Whitney's Widow Matron of Honor.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—The transformation from telephone girl to mistress of $300,000 and a great orange plantation in Florida, may sound like the plot of a novel, but if was such a change that Ida Schwindt made when she was married yesterday to Bernard Saxton of New York.

Last spring, when her old school friend, Annie Bennett, also a telephone girl, married a millionaire, E. R. Whitney, Miss Schwindt was a bridemaid. Yesterday her friend, in the dress of a widow, assisted at the quiet wedding in St. Cecelia's Church, Greenpoint.

Eight years ago Ida Schwindt, daughter of Philip Schwindt, a poor German teacher, took a position as exchange girl in the Park Avenue Hotel. Three years later, when she was a handsome girl of 23, Bernard Saxton, a wealthy bachelor twice her age, took up his residence in the hotel. For five years he courted her.

YOUNG COUPLE WED IN RESTAURANT

Grandson of Millionaire and Society Girl Are Married Clandestinely.

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—Miss Louise Mills, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Mills, and Jesse Whitehead, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elisha P. Whitehead, were married under romantic circumstances yesterday at a downtown restaurant.

On the day previous they became engaged and announced their betrothal during a luncheon with several friends at the same cafe. Some one dared them to marry yesterday and they accepted the suggestion. In the presence of four witnesses, all chums of the young people, they were wedded by the Rev. John Archibald Morison, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church.

It practically was an elopement, for the parents of the couple knew nothing about the affair.

Following the ceremony in the restaurant the wedding party enjoyed a dinner, after which Mr. and Mrs. Whitehead left for New York and other points on a brief honeymoon trip.

The bride and bridegroom are both 21 years old and have known each other for about two years.

Mr. Whitehead is a grandson of the late George Laffin, who died nearly two years ago, leaving an estate of several million dollars.

Mrs. Whitehead is well-known in Kenwood society.

DELEGATE WHO WOULD FIRE CITY HALL GIRL STENOGRAPHERS

E.W. PRIESMEYER.

WOMEN EMPLOYES SCORE DELEGATE

Reply to Priesmeyer's Resolution to Give Stenographic Positions to Men Only.

28 WOULD BE REMOVED

Officials Say That Many of Them Are the Support of Families.

The substitution of men for women stenographers and clerks in the city's employ, as contemplated by the resolution adopted by the House of Delegates on motion of Delegate Priesmeyer, Sage of the First Ward, is not accorded a very hearty approval by the heads of departments or the young women who would be affected.

Delegate James Connell of the Twenty-fifth Ward, a member of the committee appointed to "nose" about the City Hall in search of data regarding the number of positions held by women has announced that he will not serve.

"When that committee begins its investigation Im going fishing," said Mr. Connell.

But Priesmeyer is determined to make places for "registered voters."

"I believe men who have families to support should have the positions now filled by young women here in the Hall," said Mr. Priesmeyer.

"I don't take much stock in the statement that these young women have any one depending on them. In any case the salaries should go to men—householders and voters.

Will Frame Ordinance.

"If my resolution doesn't have the proper effect I am going to introduce an ordinance compelling the employment only of men—registered voters—in clerical positions."

Frank W. Valliant, Street Commissioner, declared that so far as he knew the three young women in his department were contributing to the support of their families.

"I wouldn't think of discharging the young women in my office unless I were required to do so by a city ordinance or their own neglect or incompetence," said Mr. Valliant.

Other officials concurred in Mr. Valliant's statement.

One young woman, who took refuge in anonymity for fear of incurring Delegate Priesmeyer's displeasure, said:

"That phrase, 'registered voter,' tells the whole story. Mr. Priesmeyer doesn't want stenographers and clerks. He wants voters. Women can't vote, and of course, in his opinion, they shouldn't work. He thinks it is better to have 50 men vote without working than have half that number of young ladies work without voting."

Miss Francis Purcell, stenographer in the office of Dr. H. J. Scherck, chief Dispensary physician, is the "dean" of the force of young women at the City Hall.

Dispensary Stenographer Talks.

Miss Purcell began as a little girl in short dresses, 12 years ago, when Cyrus P. Walbridge was Mayor. She has remained in the city's employ ever since. She worked in the office of the Water Commissioner and under the President of the Board of Public Improvements. Her superiors say that she is thoroughly capable and dependable.

"If any man needs my place worse than I do, he is welcome to it," said Miss Purcell.

"I have supported my mother and young sisters, and I am doing so now. I can see no reason why I should be discharged on the mere ground that I am not a voter. I believe a woman is just as capable, intelligent and industrious as a man. The presence of a woman in an office elevates and refines her surroundings. For that reason, if not for the better reason that she can do the work she ought to be hired."

Miss Barbara Walther, stenographer for Patrick J. Clifford, License Commissioner, was only amused at Mr. Priesmeyer's resolution.

"I am only afraid of failing to do my work properly. That is the only basis on which anyone should be hired or discharged. Where is Mr. Priesmeyer from?"

Twenty-Eight Women Employes.

If Delegate Priesmeyer should succeed in having his ordinance passed through the Municipal Assembly and signed by the Mayor whose stenographer and assistant secretary is a woman, 28 vacancies would be made for "registered voters."

The records in the Auditor's office show that young women are employed as stenographers and clerks in the following departments: Mayor, 1; Comptroller, 2; Assessor and Collector of Water Rates, 1; Board of Election Commissioners, 1; Board of Public Improvements, 3; Assistant Prosecuting Attorney, 1; Coroner, 2; Supervisor of City Lighting, 1; Harbor and Wharf Commissioner, 1; Board of Health, 4; License Commissioner, 1; Park Commissioner, 1; Street Commissioner, 3; Sewer Commissioner, 2; Water Commissioner, 4.

The salaries of these young women range from $60 to $75 a month, but most of them receive the latter amount. Nearly all the city officials agree that men capable of doing the same work required of their female employes could not be hired for the same wages.

GAS OVERCOMES WOMAN.

Narrowly Escapes Death in Room Where Son Died.

After remaining unconscious 24 hours from slow asphyxiation, Mrs. Bridget E. Graham of 4824 St. Louis avenue, a widow 48 years old, was revived for a short time by the efforts of physicians at 8 a. m. Thursday. She lapsed again into coma, from which she was aroused at intervals with great difficulty. Her condition is regarded as critical.

Mrs. Graham was found unconscious early Wednesday by Mrs. A. H. Cowan and Miss Elsie Smith, who have rooms at the house. A window in her room was found open. The gas was escaping slightly, and it is supposed that this had been going on all night. Mrs. Graham's age is supposed to have made her easily a victim. It is not believed by the physicians that she attempted to end her life.

Dr. G. H. Osborn of 4408 Maffitt avenue and Dr. Arthur G. Raines of 3065 Bell avenue were summoned and spent Wednesday in vain efforts to resuscitate Mrs. Graham. They continued their work that night with equal futility, and were not rewarded until early Thursday.

J. T. Graham, the only son, was not present at the home during the night preceding the finding of the unconscious woman.

The room in which Mrs. Graham was found was the scene four months ago of the suicide of her son, Arthur Graham. In her presence he drank a glass of water, and an hour and a half later was found dead in his room, the gas being turned on fully. Whether death was due to poison in the water or to asphyxiation was not determined.

Financial difficulties are said to have caused the son's death. He left a note to his wife reading: "Dear wife—I take my life for you and the babies. Put me in a white coffin and put me next to Ethel."

Rex E. Beach's Alaskan story of love, adventure and political intrigue (beginning in Everybody's for December) is a wonder of fiction.

But it is not a whit more dramatic than Lawson's story of how the ghoulish greed of "The System" tried to turn the assassination of McKinley into money-making for itself and disaster to the investing public.

Nor is it more dramatic than Russell's inspiring story of how a few starving men, by working for the common good, did more for their country than any dozen "men of power" ever did.

EXPECT ENGLISH CABINET TO QUIT

Early Resignation of Premier Balfour and Associates Anticipated at London.

LONDON, Nov. 23.—The recent rumors of an early dissolution of Parliament and an appeal to the country are gradually crystallizing into more definite form, and while no official intimation has yet been forthcoming, the idea is prevalent in well-informed political circles that Premier Balfour will take early opportunity to place his resignation in the hands of the King.

Should this materialize the Liberals will be invited to form a government, Parliament will meet for a few days' session, and a general election will occur in the new year.

The political situation was so radically altered during the last week that even the Government supporters no longer argue that Mr. Balfour has a sufficiently united party at his back to again meet Parliament with the object of initiating any legislation to the public advantage.

The Premier's appeal to the Unionists at Newcastle a week ago to unite on his fiscal policy has not met with much success.

On the contrary, Joseph Chamberlain, the most powerful private member of the Unionist coalition, directly joined issue with his chief by a speech at Bristol, Tuesday.

A Cabinet meeting has been called for tomorrow. This will be only the second held this fall and the fact that there have been so few conferences between the ministers is taken as another indication of the imminence of a change of government.

On the Stock Exchange a definite announcement of the resignation of the Cabinet is expected at any time, and the whole market today was flat in consequence.

NEW YORK STRIKE MAY STOP 80,000

Open-Shop Question Likely to Start Trouble Today in the Building Trade.

By Wire from the Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Eighty thousand men employed in the building trades in this city are on the verge of another general strike.

The crisis will be reached tonight, and the decision will determine whether the city is again to face another bitter war like that of two years ago when all building operations in the city were suspended.

The attitude of the employers is that they would welcome a strike at this time, as a favorable opportunity for a battle to the finish on the question of on an "open shop" in this city.

All the blame for the present situation is thrown upon the iron workers by the employers. The latter say that the iron workers have failed to stand by the arbitration agreement and have gone on strike in a great many instances in this city. Fifty big buildings are being constructed by Post & McCord, and the reason given for the strike is that Post & McCord are connected with the American Bridge Co. which has non-union men employed on its work at McKeesport, Pa.

Unless these iron workers return to work today on the buildings and submit their differences with Post & McCord to arbitration the Emergency Committee will authorize the employment of non-union men. This movement, if taken, will precipitate a general war, for it is expected that all classes of workmen in the building trades will refuse to work with nonunion men.

DIAMONDS!

At Less Than . . . Prevailing Prices. . .

For the third time this year Diamonds have advanced in price in the European markets—and still higher prices are confidently predicted in well-informed circles.

Fortunately, our Diamond purchases for the Christmas season were made over a year ago—at the comparatively low prices then prevailing—and we are therefore in a position to quote prices on Diamonds that we are confident will not be duplicated elsewhere.

Your inspection of this showing of loose and mounted Diamonds—and a comparison of prices—will serve to confirm our claims.
